Children Romp at May Picnic—Annual Festival of Greek Children Held On Shores of the Merrimack

The annual picnic of the pupils of the Greek community school in this city was held today on the grounds adjacent to the municipal bathhouse. It was a May day festival.

The Greek and Gregorian calendars are at odds in their assignment of dates in both calendars there is a May day. For people who count the passage of days in accordance with the Greek usage the festival comes at a time sufficiently late in the season to permit of the enjoyment of out-of-door pleasures.

If the kids who participated in today's outing could have had the weather made to order it could not have been more to their liking. At an early hour many childish eyes anxiously peered out of doors to discover if it was pleasant. Originally it had been planned to have the outing last Saturday. A storm caused a postponement.

It was with joy, therefore, that the children and their school teachers welcomed the cloudless sky of today. The sun never shone brighter. The grass was never greener. The trees never more beautiful.

Shortly after 8 o'clock this morning all roads trodden by childish feet in the Greek section led to the community school house. There the children were greeted by their teachers. Principal Pease

REDUCED FARES FOR LOWELL

Street Railway Trustees Announce New Rate Schedule for This District

15 Rides for $1 With Five-Cent Rebate—Lakeview Fare Reduced

Lowell patrons of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. will receive a reduction in the cost of their fare next week from 7-13 cents to 5-1-3 cents per ride, according to an announcement made by the company today.

This is in accordance with the agreement of the company that when the wages of its employees were reduced there would come also a reduction in the cost of transportation to the street car rider.

Only those patrons who use the 11 tickets issued by the company will benefit by the reduction. Passengers who pay a straight cash fare will continue to pay ten cents per ride as heretofore.

When the new rates go into effect, the 12-rides-for $1 tickets, with an 8-cent rebate, which are now in vogue, will be discontinued and in their place there will be issued 11 tickets good for 15 rides and a five-cent rebate. Just how soon the reduction will go into effect depends upon the speed with which the printers can turn out the new tickets. It is expected that they will be available early next week, possibly on Monday.

A definite announcement from the company as to the exact date of the beginning of the new rates will be made within a day or two.

Lakeview Fare Reduced

The company also announced today that in accordance with a resolution adopted by the local home rule committee on motion of Secretary John H. Curtin at its last meeting, special rates between Merrimack Square and Lakeview park will be in effect during the summer season. Beginning May 23 and continuing until Labor day, the fare between these two points will be ten cents instead of the present 20-cent cash fare or a double punch of the reduced rate ticket.

Several weeks ago when the company announced its intention of reducing fares, it was expected that the

Former New York Governor Took Part in Negotiations Between Premier and Irish Leaders

Declares Upon Arrival at New York That Lloyd George Gave Him Message for De Valera—Says if Peace Comes in Ireland Archbishop Hayes of New York One of Largest Contributors

ALBANY, N. Y., May 17.—Former Governor Martin H. Glynn, who returned to his home here last night from a trip to Ireland, England and France, admitted today that he had had a part in peace negotiations between Premier Lloyd George of England and the leaders of the Irish cause. He said Lloyd George gave him a message for De Valera and that if happiness should come to Ireland, Archbishop Hayes of New York could be written down as one of its largest contributors.

Chamber of Commerce Refuses to Name Members Who Will Conduct Initiative Proceedings

A request made at the chamber of commerce today that the names be furnished for publication of the members of the committee of the chamber, that is to act as a board of strategy to conduct the campaign for signatures to an initiative petition to force the members of the municipal council to pass an order making contract work on the streets mandatory, was met with a point blank refusal.

The board of strategy met last night and discussed plans for the gathering of the 3000 signatures that will be necessary to place the proposed ordinance before the municipal council. It is understood that a letter will be sent out calling upon all of the members of the chamber to take part in the work of getting the petitions signed.

A final count was made of the ballots cast in the contract labor referendum today. The record showed that 545 voted in favor of contract work.

Polish Rebels Would Withdraw Providing Ground Is Occupied By Allies

OPPELN, May 17.—(By the Associated Press)—The Polish executive committee in Silesia of which Adelbert Korfanty is president, has telegraphed the inter-allied commission here, stating the insurgents now are ready to retire sufficiently to insure immediate cessation of hostilities with the Germans, provided the ground they abandon is occupied by allied and not by German troops.

ULTIMATUM BY KORFANTY

KATOWITZ, Upper Silesia, May 16 (by the Associated Press).—Adelbert Korfanty, leader of the Polish insurgent movement in Upper Silesia, issued an ultimatum to the industrial interests in the district today directing them to sign a specially issued Polish-Silesian paper currency to relieve the money stringency brought on by the refusal of the German reichsbank to transport 250,000,000 marks into the district to pay the miners' wage.

Korfanty's action was taken because of fears that enraged workers might destroy German property in the area or that encouragement might be given

LIGHT ON THE NEW CHARTER

Views of the Charter Commission as to Import of Its Provisions

Readers Should Save This Series of Articles for Reference

Following in the third letter giving the views of the charter commission on the provisions of the new charter. Readers of the Sun are requested to cut these articles out, study them and thus acquire an intelligent understanding of the framework of the city government of 1922.

The New Charter—Sections 6-17

We have endeavored to show in the analysis of the previous five sections that it is an unjust policy to combine all functions of government in one individual and that a separation of such duties and powers is desirable, if efficient results are to be secured.

Section 6—Provides that the mayor and city council shall exercise such powers and authority as are vested in mayors and city councils by the general laws of the commonwealth.

Section 7—Provides that the first city election under the new charter shall be held on the second Tuesday of December of the current year, and thereafter city elections shall be held annually in every odd numbered year. This means that a mayor and entire new city council shall be elected every two years. On the third Tuesday preceding every city election there shall be held a preliminary or primary election for the purpose of nominating candidates to be voted for at the city election. This section provides the same time for nomination and election of candidates as does the present charter.

Sections 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14—Provide for the names of those that may be placed upon the official ballot; qualifications required for nomination and statement of candidates; time of filing petition and statement; abolition of party designations; canvassing of returns by the election commission; and publication of same; designation of names on official ballot election day, and arrangement in case of a tie vote.

The salient points of these sections are as follows: There shall not be printed on the official ballot at a primary election the name of a candidate unless he or she has filed a statement as provided. Petitions of candidates must bear the signatures of at least 50 qualified voters. Position on the ballot shall not be in alphabetical order, but by lot as drawn by the election commission. There shall be no party designation. All candidates participating in a tie vote at a primary election shall have their names printed on the official ballot election day, although in consequence there be printed the names of candidates to a number exceeding twice the number to be elected.

Section 15—Provides for the abolishment of the present government at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of the first Monday in January, 1922. At that time the terms of office of the present mayor, city council and school committee shall terminate. Also, the terms of office of all sub heads of departments now holding office under indefinite tenure shall terminate, except the present incumbents of the board of park commissioners, board of sinking fund commissioners, board of library trustees, board of license commissioners, board of cemetery commissioners and board of election commissioners. An exception is made with these boards for the reason that they are now elected for a definite and specified tenure, and it is only reasonable inasmuch as they are now serving a fixed and definite tenure of office that they be permitted to fill out their unexpired term. The present city sealer, and inspector of milk and vinegar are continued in office under civil service regulation at the insistence of the committee on cities, on the ground that they are prosecuting officers of the state. The moth superintendent is continued in office with civil service protection, through an amendment offered in the senate. This amendment does not meet with the approval of the charter commission. It is a question how long such an official will be needed.

The importance of this section is based upon the fact that under the new charter every head of a department, member or members of boards and commissions, except the city sealer, milk inspector and moth superintendent will have to come up for election at definite intervals. They will no longer have the protection of civil service to keep them permanently in office. Continuance in office will be based upon ability and efficiency rather than civil service. Such a change from the established order of things has naturally aroused intense opposition to the new charter from those personally affected, not one of whom had any serious objection to displacing someone else when they were elected to office, many, many years ago. They shall remain in office until their successors are elected and qualified. It does not mean that the present incumbents of these offices are disqualified from serving in office under the new charter, but it does mean that they must take their chance with other citizens, who under present conditions never have a chance, for an appointment or election to office. It would seem a fair and reasonable requirement.

Section 16—Simply provides that on the first Monday of January, 1922, and every second year thereafter, the mayor, select and councilors elect shall meet and be sworn to the faithful performance of duty.

Section 17—Provides that a majority of the council shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

The next article will deal with administrative officers, showing how elected and their respective terms of office, etc.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Woman Was Overcome By Gas When Light in Stove Went Out

The light in her gas stove went out, and Jennie Morgan, about 60, was overcome by fumes and barely escaped death at her Congress street home last night. Only the sharp cry of a neighbor, who detected her groans and summoned aid, saved the woman from asphyxiation. Dr. Ginsberg, notified by the neighbor, in turn communicated with the police. Sergeant Bigelow, on night duty at the station house, proceeded with all speed to the woman's residence, bringing the police lieutenant, but this was found to be unnecessary when he arrived, as first aid measures had sufficiently recovered the victim. The woman was taken in an ambulance to the Lowell Corporation hospital for treatment for gas poisoning. Mrs. Marland, a next-door neighbor, was probably the means of saving the woman's life, as she heard her groans and took immediate action.

CONGRESSMAN ROGERS FOR DISARMAMENT

(Special to The Sun) PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—Congressman John Jacob Rogers, of Lowell, Mass., addressed the American Academy of Political and Social Science at its annual banquet held here tonight. Mr. Rogers is ranking member of the foreign affairs committee of the house and his address was listened to with keen attention. Mr. Rogers said in part: "There is no probability that any international agreement can be reached at present regarding disarmament of land forces, and the United States drops here, then the ratio will be Great Britain, 21; Japan, 14 and the United States but 12. Thus the combined strength of Great Britain and Japan would be three times that of the United States. Relative strength is the only thing to be considered in mapping out a naval program."

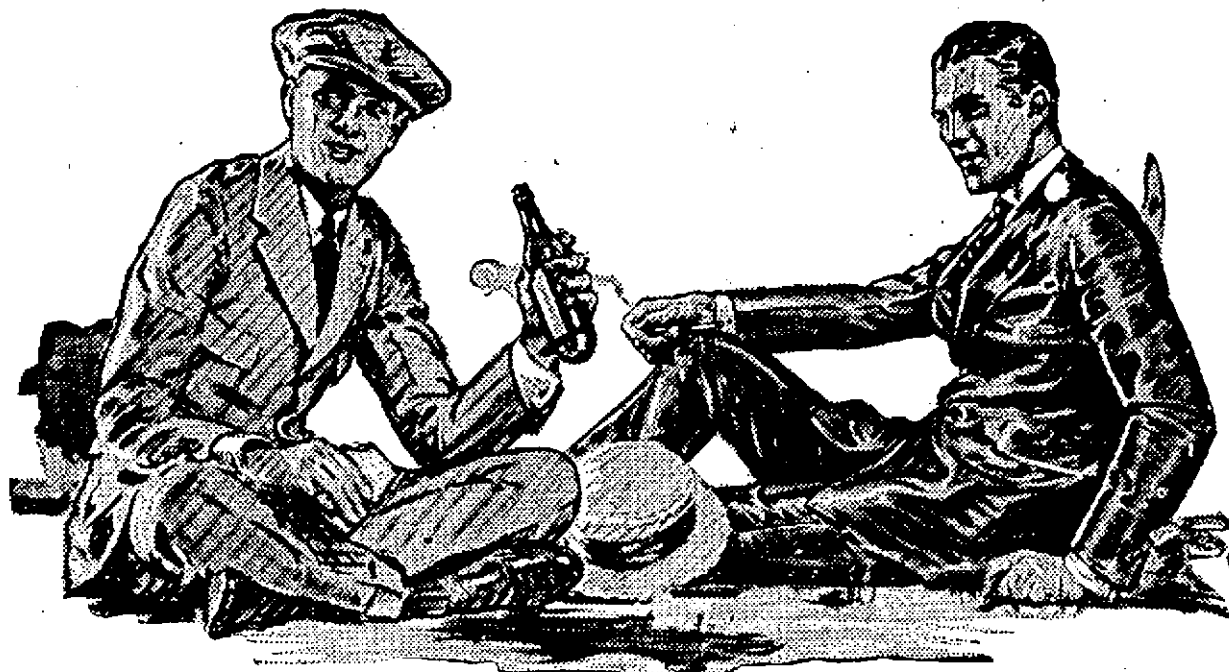

"The relative naval strength of Great Britain, the United States and Japan may be indicated by the units, 21, 20 and 14. But if Great Britain and Japan proceed with their building program and the United States drops here, then the ratio will be Great Britain, 21; Japan, 14 and the United States but 12. Thus the combined strength of Great Britain and Japan would be three times that of the United States. Relative strength is the only thing to be considered in mapping out a naval program."

agreement signed in 1917, between the United States and Great Britain regarding naval defenses on the Great Lakes. That agreement started in negotiations begun in 1912 by Secretary of State John Quincy Adams, and is still in force. "It has given both Canada and the United States many years of peace," said he. The agreement provided that the British defense on those lakes should consist only of one vessel on Lake Ontario, "not exceeding 100 tons burthen and armed with one 18-pound cannon; on the upper lake, two vessels not exceeding 1100 burthen, armed with like force; on the upper waters of Lake Chaplain; 1 vessel of like burthen with like armed force."

The agreement adds that all other vessels there shall be dismantled, etc. More recently a joint high commission was created to which matters of Canadian and United States disputes are referred, but no change has been made in the 1917 joint armament agreement, although Canada has given the United States the courtesy of placing other vessels there for special purposes.

and Argentine even now have a five-years' limited armament agreement, and closed by saying he fully believed a conference of nations would result in steps towards international lessening of naval forces and tend towards future peace. RICHARDS.

NEW ENGLAND WOMAN THREE TIMES ON VERGE OF COMPLETE NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Mrs. A. W. Etheridge, 649 Albany Avenue, Hartford, Conn., Describes in Letter How Wincarnis Helped Restore Her to Health

"I feel it my duty to tell you what your wonderful Wincarnis has done for me," writes Mrs. Etheridge. "Three different times in the last four years has it helped save me from a complete nervous breakdown. This time I was suffering severely from general debility and felt very nervous and run down, but, as usual, Wincarnis did the work. I am well on the road to recovery and have to thank Wincarnis for the great improvement in my health."

"If any one who doubts the value of Wincarnis will write me, I will gladly tell them all it has done for me."

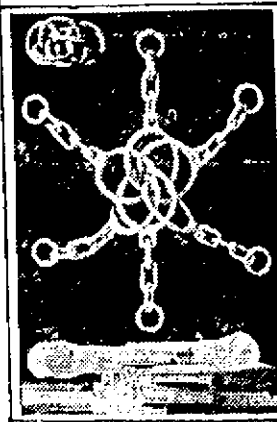

How Wincarnis will help to restore your vital energy—enrich your blood—strengthen your nerves and promote vigor and vitality.

are positively essential to the creation of vital power. These elements are, particularly, Iron, Calcium, Potassium, Sodium, Phosphorus. All these elements are contained in Wincarnis, because Wincarnis is prepared especially for weak, anemic, nervous and run-down people. So that by taking Wincarnis when you are weak, anemic, nervous or run-down, you supply to the body the very mineral elements it needs and, in this way, you pay the body, as it were, for the work it does by supplying the mineral elements necessary to enable the body to create vital energy—to make the blood rich and red—to strengthen the nerves—and to promote renewed vigor, vitality and endurance.

Choose the right way to health Remember this important fact—If you are weak, anemic, nervous or run-down, because of a shortage in the body of Iron, Calcium, Potassium, Sodium and Phosphorus, it follows that no single one alone of these will do. The body must be supplied with all of them. And because Wincarnis contains all of them in most appropriate proportions and acceptable form, Wincarnis should be your choice if you desire new strength—new rich, red blood—new nerve force and new vitality. Over 10,000 physicians have recommended Wincarnis. Try just one bottle. Sold in two sizes, $1.10 and $1.95 at Green's drug store, Merrimack square, and all first class druggists. Write today for free booklet, "Hundred percent Health. How to Obtain It." Edward Lassar, Inc., 402 West 23d St., New York, U. S. Agents for Wincarnis.—Adv.

ence of these indicates that there was fine work done by the various parish committees. The bulk of Lowell's contribution was made up of small donations. St. Patrick's parish has the honor of leading the city in the amount of money raised, although St. Peter's parish, which was in the lead during the greater part of the drive is a close second. The standing of the various parishes as announced by Dr. Michael A. Tighe, division chairman, is as follows:

St. Patrick's	$15,600.00
St. Peter's	10,575.00
St. Michael's	5,612.30
St. Margaret's	3,275.00

St. Columba's	316.50
St. Louis	200.00
Notre Dame de Lourdes	50.00
Total	$41,706.15

St. Patrick's parish had a hustling team in the field and its leadership of the city is due essentially to this fact. Credit must also be given to Msgr. William O'Brien, pastor of the parish and dean of the clergy here, who assisted in every possible way to make the campaign a success and who contributed $5000 as his personal donation to the fund.

A feature of the final returns was the announcement that St. Jean Baptiste parish had raised $2154. It was not generally known that any organized campaign was in vogue there.

Msgr. Perry D. Thompson has contributed $25 to the fund. The active campaign is now over, but voluntary contributions will be received for the next few days by Dr. Tighe at his office in Wyman's exchange. The state authorities are anxious to clean up the drive as soon as possible and for that reason Dr. Tighe asks that those who intend to make a donation do so as soon as possible.

The chairman of the various parishes during the drive were as follows: St. Patrick's, Rev. James A. Supple; St. Peter's, Rev. Peter T. Lanehan; St. Michael's, Rev. Thomas J. Heagney; St. Margaret's, Rev. Charles J. Galligan; St. Jean de Baptiste, Napoleon J. Vigeant and Victor Rochette; Immaculate Conception, Rev. Owen P. McQuaid, O.M.I.; St. Mary's, Collinsville, J. DAYTON, O., May 17.—Mrs. Helen Cox Mahoney, daughter of James M. Cox, democratic candidate for president last fall, died suddenly at her home in Oakland, a suburb, early yesterday.

Her husband, D. J. Mahoney, is general manager of the ex-governor's newspaper in this city. Mrs. Mahoney passed through a serious illness several months ago, but apparently had recovered. She was 25 years old.

THE STREET PAVING PROBLEM

It is to be regretted that the campaign of the chamber of commerce in favor of having street paving done by contractors solely on the ground of economy, has engendered so much bitterness. Now that the chamber is to put the issue before the voters by having the initiative, the question is likely to be befogged so that many will lose sight of the main point, which is to get our street paving done at a reasonable cost.

It cannot be denied that there is much to be said in favor of continuing the system of street building that has been in vogue in Lowell from the beginning. The city, it is admitted by all parties, has built highways of the very best quality. It is not intimated that contractors could do more satisfactory work, but the claim is made and not successfully refuted that work recently done by the street department has been far too expensive. Since the street department has to care for all highways however built, it would seem wise that it should have a hand in their construction.

When the work is done by the city, the only guarantee that it will be done according to specifications lies in the strictness of the supervision or inspection by the city engineer. It has not always been an easy task to obtain the services of inspectors who could be depended upon to look out carefully and faithfully for the city's interests in supervising contract work. In other cities where contractors have secured fat jobs, it has been found that some of them formed "alliances" with the inspectors so that the latter closed their eyes to operations by which the city was being robbed.

In the present case, it is probably a fact that no reliable data as to cost of paving by the city employees can be placed before the voters and consequently it will be difficult to show that a considerable sum would be saved by adopting the contract system. It is an open question as to whether any fair comparison can be made between what a contractor would pay for block paving at the present time and what such paving has cost the city in the past. The present is the time on which both should figure, and the street department should compute the cost per yard of block paving, omitting the so-called "regulation" extras, an unknown quantity not usually included in paving contracts.

Whatever may be the outcome of the present controversy, it would seem to be wise for the municipal council to take immediate steps to overhaul the street department system of administration, which has been permitted through a series of years to drift into a condition in which it cannot function with full efficiency, and among other things to install an up-to-date system of cost accounting that will make it possible to know with some degree of exactness how the taxpayers' money is being spent.

THE IRISH SITUATION

The increase in the violence in the attacks upon British officials in Ireland indicates the determination to impress the government with the seriousness of the policy of executing the republican soldiers arrested. The republican army in its activities of Saturday and Sunday killed an alarming number of police and other military officials. In the eyes of the Sinn Fein these people have no business in Ireland and are there only because they are backed by a large army. Ireland cannot come out with an army in the open to meet the British forces but she is resisting British domination with all the power at her command. Evidently the republican army is determined to finish the Irish question before the present struggle terminates. It would be well if that object were accomplished in a manner that would give Ireland her freedom and in that way provide for future peace and harmony between that nation and England. It is very evident that the question never can be permanently settled in any other way. President de Valera has repeatedly stated that Ireland free would be willing to enter into a treaty arrangement guaranteeing peace and amity between the two nations.

It is very evident that it would be much better for England to have a friendly Ireland at her door than to have a nation ever watching for an opportunity to strike for independence. The raids carried into England are directed against the families of the Black and Tans who shed such heartless brutality in their nightly raids on the Irish people. The whole business is deplorable and should be settled right so that it will not come up from year to year, renewing the old spirit of hate, the attacks and reprisals that have caused such havoc all over the country.

It is to be hoped that Lloyd George is beginning to see the light and that there is some foundation in fact for the report that he is willing to meet President de Valera without condition in order to see if it is possible to reach a settlement mutually satisfactory.

STREET RAILWAY FARES

Now that the wage question and working conditions on the Eastern Massachusetts street railway have been settled by arbitration, the trustees are expected to proceed with their program of reducing fares.

The employees did not get as much as they expected from the arbitration of the differences between them and the trustees.

True, the company did not get authority to enforce a cut-down of 20 per cent, but if the decision on the twelve issues submitted be considered, it must be admitted that the cut means more than 25 per cent. It is plain also that the differential of five cents per hour more than the other men for one-man car operators, does not indicate a fair appreciation of the nature of the nervous work these men have to perform.

The people of Lowell who pass through Merrimack square would like some guarantee of a ride of reasonable length without having to pay two fares. As at present regulated, the transfer system is so restricted that a passenger has to pay twenty cents or two fares to cross the city. It seems that there might be an extension of

ENFORCE THE SPEED LAW

On Sunday, the police of Stoneham held up no fewer than sixty automobiles who violated the speed laws on the highways.

Unless the police of cities and towns throughout the state adopt some method of enforcing the law, the speed maniacs will continue to use the highways as race tracks and thus to imperil the lives of the people who are out for pleasure and who are careful not to violate the laws regulating the use of the highways. It is well known, at the opening of the season, to impress the motorists with the fact that the laws are to be enforced; and it is very remarkable how openly the laws are violated here and elsewhere with the risk of arrest or prosecution.

It is a remarkable fact that although the law says that the speed of automobiles passing the intersection of streets in thickly settled districts, should not exceed eight miles an hour, very few motorists seem to know that any such law exists. There is not a day in the week that this law is not violated hundreds of times in this and nearly every other city in the state.

The local police department conducted a law enforcement crusade some time ago with good results; but the Safety First campaign followed, winding up with several fatalities. Nothing will stop reckless driving so promptly as to set a stop watch on the speedsters and pull them in for violation of the law. Stoneham is on the right track. Lowell should follow.

RADICALS IN MEXICO

Radicals are evidently becoming aggressive in Mexico and, as usual, they set out to banish religion as one of their chief obstacles. The destruction of churches followed by the killing of over 50 of those who protested against the outrage shows a dangerous spirit of lawlessness. Now that Villa has subsided, Mexico must have some other form of turbulence and out-lavry. If President Obregon tolerates radical outrages, he will eventually be caught in their intrigues and overwhelmed.

less than 50 per cent. of the industrial concerns of the country are covered by contracts for coal. This is truly an element of danger. A trained observer of the stage can tell, without the program's page, just what the audience before him is supposed to be. ## Life

Life is a bearing of burdens
Tempered with pleasure each day;
Life is a stress and a struggle
With pauses for thought and for play;
Then, be you kind while you may.

Life is a pledge, a devotion,
With pleading, and moments to pray;
Life is a faith, and a backing
For something far-off and away;
Then, be you kind while you may.

Life is a song and a sorrow,
A joy, and a pang in the fray;
Life is a need and a trusting
From the dawn till the twilight is gray;
Then, be you kind while you may.

Life is a journey with comrades
To get to the end of the way;
Life is a chance to be helpful
Before life is taken away;
Then, be you kind while you may.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Shakespeare wrote a song one time in which the following line occurred: "The rain it raineth every day." About time for a Shakespearean rain song. That song might have been up as we paddled through muds, sludges, through storms, and rain, and sludgers. If my recollection serves, old raly Jupiter has made a specialty of turning on the water on Saturdays this spring, although this week he held off until Monday morning. But there was probably a method in his madness, as Sunday as straw hat day, and he saved the day by going out a clear Saturday, he could kid us into buying our new lids, and then ask us when we started out Monday morning. I, for one, fooled him, although I may have been near to going to the booby-hatch in the undertaking. Leaving my winter headpiece at the office Saturday, I breeched home in my miffy new covering. I had it all doped out that the heavenly weening was certainly through for a bit. But when I woke up Monday morn, the little threads of rain were pouring perpendicularly from the sky. First I said, "Farewell, straw hat." Then a bright and daring idea hit me a wall-plop. Result: I walked downtown to work arrayed in a raincoat, but utterly minus a lid. Boreheaded, I strode through the pelting rain. And he it said to the everlasting honor of Lowell's citizenry, no one gave me more than a passing glance, not a voice admonished me to be on my guard against the squirrels, not a cop (and I guessed several) laid upon the suspicious eye. Well, why should anyone wear a hat if they don't want to, anyhow? The Greeks and Romans weren't much on wearing them, if we are to judge by their statuary, and other sources of information. And, lest it be explained that the climate of balmy Italy and Greece had to do with this, I may add that the tribes of the north, who swooped down upon the Mediterranean lands weren't much on wearing them, either.

The closing of the season's work of the League of Catholic Women brings to mind the excellent program which was given by the organization at the various monthly meetings during the 1920-1921 season. Few organizations have brought to their membership so varied a personnel of talent as the League. Such speakers as Mrs. Frank Leachman, Mrs. Martha Moore Avery, Hon. James M. Curley, Rev. W. Collins, Rev. Francis P. Donnelly, S. J., Mary Boyle O'Reilly and Mrs. Francis Statterly addressed the members during the season which has just come to a close. Mr. Bennett Fitzgerald, who appeared at the October meeting, will long be remembered for his instructive and absorbing address on "The Folk Song," with illustrations from his own poems. The musical program of the League has been more than ordinarily commendable this year. Mr. Fitzgerald was assisted by Mrs. Mrs. Bernson, a Boston vocalist, and Mrs. Avery in her stirring rendition of "The Song of America" was assisted by William Rieker. Toward the close of the season the league choral club began presenting its oratorio, "The Star of Bethlehem" and "Holy City" have both been given most effectively. The year's program was truly worthy one and reflects much credit on the committee which prepared it.

Lowell Woman Tells Wonderful Experience of Herself and Husband With Tanlac

Here is another instance of the remarkable powers of Tanlac in building up the system following an operation. Mrs. Toles Landry, 26 Main st., Lowell, says:

"For ten years I was in a weak, nervous condition and bothered constantly with stomach trouble. After everything that could be thought of had been done for my relief, I was advised to submit to an operation, which I did. When I came out of the hospital, after some weeks, I continued in such a run-down condition that it was absolutely necessary to have something to build me up.

"I got Tanlac and the results have been simply wonderful. I now eat and sleep better than for years and never feel a touch of indigestion. I have gained considerably in weight and feel like a different person altogether. When my husband saw how much good Tanlac had done me, he took some himself, for he was not at all well, and it has done him a world of good. Tanlac is certainly a household treasure with us. We tell our friends about it every day and I am glad to make this statement and give the public the benefit of my experience."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative; by Wright Drug Co. Billings, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

GOOD OF THE SERVICE

Will Be Considered in Selecting One of Three Highest for Postmaster

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Only the "good of the service" will be considered in selecting the man from among the three highest for certification to the president for appointment as postmaster. Postmaster General Hays declared today in discussing the recent executive order of President Harding on the matter. Congressmen and senators will naturally be heard by the department as to the qualifications of applicants. Mr. Hays said adding that this meant democrats as well as republicans.

Selections made by the civil service commission under the orders of former President Wilson but not confirmed by the senate, will be ignored and new examinations held for such vacancies, the postmaster-general asserted. There are about 5000 vacancies, it was said, and the postoffice department is now making up the list by states to certify to the civil service commission. This body, it was declared, is expected to make arrangements for the examination as soon as possible.

CONGRESSWOMAN MAKES FIRST SPEECH IN HOUSE

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Dashing like a bashful school girl, Miss Alice M. Roberson of Oklahoma, yesterday made her first speech in the house. She engaged in debate after Representative Mondell, the republican leader, had declared the federal government had a "little park down in Oklahoma," which it had been trying to get rid of for several years. It had been offered, he said, to Oklahoma, but Oklahomans did not seem to want it, realizing, he added, that "so long as ## they may utilize the property and

Uncle Sam pay the upkeep that it is a very satisfactory arrangement."

Miss Roberson asked the name of the tract, and when told it was Platt National park, inquired of Mr. Mondell if he knew how it had been named. He admitted he did not, so she told him that it was named for the late Senator Platt of Connecticut, "one of the best of friends, if not the very best of the Indians of Oklahoma ever had."

The white-haired woman representative delivered a brief speech in praise of Senator Platt and when she walked back to her seat, was applauded by members of the house.

Time of Minimum Sun-Spottedness

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Sun spots do not control terrestrial weather, but are more or less related to auroras, earth currents and terrestrial magnetism, according to the United States weather bureau. If there is any relation between terrestrial magnetism and auroras, on the one hand, and the weather on the other, a statement issued today said, it was quite obscure. The statement said a time of minimum sun-spottedness is just beginning and will continue from one to three years and the present spot is only one of a number of outbursts which may be expected during that period. The public need feel no concern regarding their effect on the earth's weather, it was added.

Consolidate War Veteran Relief Bureaus

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The house is expected to begin consideration within a few days of the Sweet bill to consolidate various government agencies dealing with relief for war veterans. The measure was taken up today by the commerce committee. A sub-committee, headed by Representative Sweet, republican, Iowa, author of the bill, has already heard the views of representatives of bureaus that would be affected, and of veterans' organizations. The measure provides for consolidation in one bureau under the treasury department of the war risk insurance bureau, the rehabilitation division of the board for vocational education, and sections of the public health service that deal with sick and disabled ex-service men.

Perils in Training—Kilbane Points Out Dangers of Improper Quarters

By JOHNNY KILBANE
Featherweight Champion

Selection of training quarters and the conditions under which a boxer trains for a championship bout are any other day should be carefully weighed from all angles by all fighters and their managers.

Jack Dempsey has driven stakes close to the boardwalk at Atlantic City, playground of the nation, where he'll perform before the gaze of cash customers. Deschamps is taking the challenge to a more secluded spot on Long Island.

Judging from my own experience, the Frenchman will get the better training conditions.

I don't blame Jack Kearns for keeping his weather eye on the bank account, but he should use proper precautions in Dempsey's environment.

Kearns' Mistake

Quarantining the champion and his staff of trainers on the same site at which Dempsey gives his public exhibitions is a mistake, in my judgment. After the day's workout, Kearns should take Jack to some

WANTS TO ENTER TWILIGHT LEAGUE

Sporting Editor.
Dear Sir:
Being manager of the "Try-A-Dough" nine I should like to let some of the local teams know that we are looking for games. We have just organized, picking some of the best players around the north common. In our lineup we have "Dannie" Foley, who in 1917 twisted the Holy Cross nine to a victory against the Braves. We also have "Red" Shinkwin, who played in the Michigan-Ontario league, till the war broke out and he answered the call. "Billie" Shinkwin, Lewiston's star little short stop will be seen in one of our uniforms, and "Stubby" Fadden who played with Ballardvale, a semi-pro team is also one of us. I would like to hear from the owners of the South End or the "Try-A-Dough" nine as follows: Kilroy, C. Foley, W. Fadden, Bill Shinkwin, S. O'Brien, J. H. Fadden, B. D. O'Connor, J. Jones, J. O'Connor, J. Suber, J. Corvay. We would be very thankful for any information about getting into the Twilight League. Send all challenges to 111 State street or through this "sport" page.

Yours respectfully,

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—Jake Schaeffer of San Francisco established what was said to be a world's 152 ball line billiard record here yesterday when he scored 400 points in three innings against Edoardo Horemans, 111 points in two innings.

Schaeffer had an incomplete run of 68, remaining from Saturday's contest. His first inning yesterday resulted in 225 points—total run of 301. He scored 20 points in his second inning and ran out the four points to complete the 400 in his third inning. The total score in the 400-point match now stands:

Schaeffer, 360; Horemans, 213.

New "Sport of Kings"—No Chance to "Fix" the Racing Hounds

TULSA, Okla., May 17.—Playing the doggies is the new "sport of kings" in Tulsa.

And the hound races here have brought forth as much enthusiasm as a horse race ever caused.

Great wads of cash have changed hands over these running events—but no longer has anyone come through with a complaint that the races were crooked.

Chase Electric Rabbit

And no wonder! The dogs—blonded greyhounds—chase an electric rabbit around the circular track. Boney is run at a speed that keeps him just ahead of the hounds. He's merely the pace maker. A man in a tower works the lever that keeps the cottonball on the go. The rabbit is on a wheel, at the end of a rod.

With the dogs it's simply up to their long, lanky legs.

The start and finish of the races cause the big thrills.

Just before the "go" clang is given, the rabbit is started around the track. The dogs, in the meantime, are huddled in separate starting stalls that have glass fronts and are set out on one side of the track.

As the rabbit flashes by these stalls, the glass front is whirled up, and the hounds pounce forward, and the race is on.

There are a lot of interesting possibilities, during an event, that make dog racing even more exciting than horse racing.

Can't Stop Them

Just try to stop a hound that is chasing a rabbit," they say, "and running neck and neck with a lot of other dogs. It can't be done."

R. J. Allison, promoter of sport enterprises, built Mid-Continent Park, at Tulsa, where the dog races are run. He had seen hounds run on a three-sixteenths of a mile track in California and liked the thrill of it.

The park cost $75,000 and, though much smaller, is not unlike a regular track in appearance. There is a quarter-mile track, grandstand, and judges' tower. To the left of the grandstand is the paddock where the hounds are kennelled and weighed in—and where the bookmakers receive guests.

At one of the recent races the mechanical rabbit broke and stopped. The crowd expected to see the hounds stop in a heap and hear it pines. Nothing like that! A couple of dogs hesitated and snuffed, but the rest of the field kept right on tearing down the track.

Make Good Money

The hounds always know when a race is over. Just beyond the finish line the mechanical rabbit can be switched off and run into a hole at the side of the track. When this happens the hounds "break" and dash for their trainers, who leap out on the track to take them to their kennels.

Dogs at Tulsa clean up from $200 to $500 a week for their owners and they are valued at from $2000 to $3000.

THE INSIDER

Dan Cupid is probably opposed to the famous "heart sock."

Just once a year a stocking is filled up with Christmas stock. But Dempsey ALWAYS has a lot of stuff packed in his "sock."

Speaking of a return to normalcy, an insider's business is picking up every day.

Many a rookie has staged a comeback—to the home town.

A bird who can take a blow and then give one is not necessarily a "counter" fighter.

Jack Dempsey used to pick peaches. Now he knocks 'em out.

The umpire fans the pan and the fans pan the umpire.

Kotsonaros and his championship wrestling ambitions now sit down—or rather up. Zbyszko put him on his shoulder blades.

A man was showing, to a friend, Jack's blow, he says, "it was like a flock of skin had been."

TEX'S ARENA TO BE THE PRIZE OF 'EM ALL

By MAX BALTHASAR
Noted Fight Expert

Building arenas for big boxing shows is one of the best things Tex Herra does. But the arena he is erecting in Jersey City for the Dempsey-Kearns fight clash on July 2 is the last word in that line.

Jackieville, Fla., has the honor of being the site of the first open air boxing structure. It was put up for the Corbett-Mitchell fight in 1914. It was a ramshackle affair that didn't amount to much.

Had Tough Time

Tom Stuart, who promoted the Corbett-Flitzman battle at Carson City, Nev., in 1917, created the second fight arena. It was a wooden structure. Stuart's first site selection was his home town of Dallas, Tex. But after plans had been completed, reformers rose up and a special session of the Texas legislature passed a bill making prizefighting a felony.

Stuart then turned to the bullring at Juarez, Mex., again plans were knocked out by officials.

Hot Springs, Ark., was then tried. He secured a race track, had the ring erected and everything all set. Then the authorities again protested. They blew the picture game when railroad bridges were burned to hold up trains carrying officials to Hot Springs in an effort to prevent them from leaving the state.

But no law prevailed and Stuart moved on again.

BOXING NOTES

The open-air boxing show the Olympic A.C. planned to hold at Braves field, Boston, last night, has been postponed until tomorrow night.

Middleweight Champion Johnny Wilton has signed to meet Joe Chip in Detroit, May 25.

Ray Woud, well known here, staged a "comeback" at Fall River last night, when he defeated Steve Nolan.

Bantam Champion Joe Lynch of New York, who failed to keep his contract with the American Legion post, of Massachusetts, to meet Berate Hudson in that city, was suspended yesterday by Massachusetts boxing commissioners. Eddie Mead, manager of Lynch, was also suspended. Notice of both suspensions were sent to the New York boxing board.

Lynch and Mead will have to come to Boston if they want a hearing.

PLAN BIG TRACK MEET ON SOUTH COMMON

Members of the C.Y.M.L. are looking forward to the track meet to be held on the South common on the afternoon of May 30 under the auspices of the popular "Acie" organization. About 50 entries have already been received and many more are expected. Valuable prizes are to be awarded the winners and among the events now planned are a 100-yard dash, 100-yard hurdles, 40-yard dash, 80-yard dash, mile run, five mile run, relay race, broad jump, high jump, shot put and disc throwing. All these events will be open to contestants from Lowell and surrounding towns.

A number of events have also been planned for younger boys. Frank Ricard has donated a silver cup for the winner of the five mile race.

The program will be under the general direction of Frederick F. Flynn, athletic instructor of the Lycum, to whom entries should be sent. Mr. Flynn is being assisted by an able committee.

By HAL COCHRAN
This story of Jack Dempsey's career has been written for The Sun by Hal Cochran on information much of which was furnished by Dempsey himself. The rest was obtained from Dempsey's close acquaintances and official records.

CHAPTER IV.

Just before Jack Dempsey stepped into the ring with Jack Downey, star of the Hardy Downey Athletic club, at the Hardy Downey Athletic club, he looked an advance live-spot in his jeans. Then, in four rounds, he took a good beating—his first real defeat!

Downey was an outcast at the game and Jack picked up a lot of valuable pointers while he was tussling and drubbing. Later the two were matched in another four-round go. It ended in a draw.

That set fight fans to waiting another match between the two. Their bouts had been fast and furious and the crowd loved them.

Hardy Downey set the machinery going, but Dempsey threw a wrench in it for a short time.

Gets $1250 for a K. O.

"I figured I was getting better," Jack says, "so I asked Downey for $15 for a third match. I had been paid $450 for the second go. Harry was set at $1250 and wouldn't budge, so I finally agreed at that price. I needed the dough."

This time Dempsey knocked Downey out in the second round.

Smaller bouts came around Salt Lake City and then Jack hit out for two catfies, Utah, to appear with Chief Geronimo. It was a slumfest, give and take, six-round draw.

Rufe Cameron, a negro boxer, had given Jack the once over and signed him as a sparring partner. He ordered over Dempsey and handed him

Old Timer Berton Braley

Babe Ruth looms larger every day
And Speakers' pretty fair
And there are other stars who play
With quite a skillful air.
But Georgia's pride still gets his share
Of plaudits from the mob.
So let the horns and trumpets blare
For Tyrus Raymond Cobb!

Perhaps a search would show some gray
Amidst his head of hair.
But no one would exactly say
That Tyrus was a scare.
Still round the bases he can tear
He's right up on the job.
I don't think, yet, we need despair
Of Tyrus Raymond Cobb.

I think he still knows how to flay
The pill to regions where
No fielder really likes to stray;
I think he still can scare
The best of pitchers—I declare
It makes my heart-strings throb
To watch him playing—he's a bear!
Is Tyrus Raymond Cobb!

ENVOY
Fans, he's the lad can do and dare
And watch him use his knob!
Still snappy, poppy, debonaire
Is Tyrus Raymond Cobb.

Strike in Sympathy With Street Carmen

BEENOS AIRES, May 17.—A general strike has been declared in Buenos Aires, the Argentine capital, says a despatch to the Nation. The movement is in sympathy with striking street car employees.

Geddes Denies Possibility of Conflict

KANSAS CITY, May 17.—Possibility that Great Britain might be drawn into conflict with the United States through the medium of the existing Anglo-Japanese alliance was denied by Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to the United States, in a speech here last night. Such rumors, he declared, were the work of "the whisperers, the broken men—and by broken men, I mean the Germans."

GUARD MINCO FIGHTING FRONT

Authorities Hear of Activities Increasing Behind the Battle Lines

Plans Made to Anticipate Outbreaks on Anniversary of Matewan Battle

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., May 17.—Preparations are being made to anticipate any untoward activities on the Mingo fighting front next Thursday, the anniversary of the battle of Matewan, 1920, in which 10 persons were killed, including the mayor and seven police officers. Although hostilities have ceased practically on the West Virginia-Kentucky border, where the industrial controversy has caused warfare, activities are increasing behind the battle lines, according to authorities here.

The state police have been stationed at strategic points throughout the fighting zone and are ready for a rapid mobilization. Fighting was reported at Rawl, W. Va., last night, Captain Brooks of the state police said, the shots coming from the Kentucky hills, but no one was injured.

Sec. Weeks' Position

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The federal government is not disposed to declare martial law and employ regular troops in the Mingo county, West Virginia strike region, merely to anticipate a situation that may get beyond the control of the state authorities.

Secretary Weeks declared today. Latest reports to the war department indicated that the situation was more quiet. Fighting practically had ceased, he said, and no one had been killed or wounded for two or three days.

"Kentucky has 600 state troops," Mr. Weeks said. "It is true that West Virginia has no state troops, but the forces on the spot seem to have the situation well in hand."

"It will be time to take so serious a step as the declaration of martial law when the affair becomes more serious than it is now."

TEMPERED JUSTICE WITH MERCY

With husband out of work, and six children to be clothed and fed, a woman appeared in the police court this morning charged with shop-lifting at the P. E. Nelson company store. After Saturday night, the woman, who is a native of Kentucky, was brought to court. The judge, after considering the desperate circumstances of this wife and mother, but hard by the unemployment situation, and stealing the sweater and stockings which were shown in court, perhaps to clothe her little ones, Judge Bright mercifully fixed sentence as a $10 fine which he gave the woman a month to pay. The goods were recovered.

The woman, according to Lieutenant Petrie, who made the arrest, was at the Nelson company office about 10 o'clock Saturday evening when he arrived there in response to a call. The sweater was found in a shopping bag which she had been carrying. The lieutenant testified that she told of intending to buy the article, and of having been unable to find a cleaver. As she went away, she made a dash for it, and he caught her. She was taken to the station house, where she was held until she was brought to court.

ARMED GUARD FOR STILLMAN

NEW YORK, May 17.—All the relatives of James A. Stillman, millionaire banker, since his wife, Anne Ursula Stillman, died, for divorce, it was learned yesterday are to be under armed guard to prevent any attempts, including possible attempts for the defense, at the estate, as a result of will, publicly given the divorce case. An armed bodyguard also accompanies Mr. Stillman wherever he goes. The guard was said to be not a large one, but it was described as a particularly efficient one. The guard was employed on the advice of Mr. Stillman's attorneys, following the receipt, it is reported, of certain "cranky letters." Mr. Stillman did not want the guard, but it was insisted upon by his counsel.

44 HOURS IN AN OPEN BOAT

Two Men Found Near Collapse From Hunger and Exhaustion

Were Lost In Fog Friday Night—Picked Up Nine Miles Off Coast of Maine

PORTLAND, Me., May 17.—Eighty-four hours in an open boat and near collapse from hunger and exhaustion, Thomas E. Armstrong of Biddeford and Stephen Perry of Cape Porpoise, members of the crew of the fishing schooner Angeline Noonan, who were lost in the fog Friday night, were picked up nine miles off Biddeford Island and brought to this port by the steamer Ransom D. Fuller early today. Attention of the steamer's crew was drawn to the fisherman by their cries and the loud blowing of a horn. The men left the schooner to ash while about 70 miles off Cape Cod. And when the fog began to settle down around them, they lost sight of the Noonan until late in the afternoon, when for a few minutes, they discerned her so far to the windward that they could make her out. They had rowed more than 150 miles when picked up.

PLANNING FOR A TRIP TO EUROPE

Five Lowell people are planning to leave here July 2 for a two months' voyage to Europe, in the course of which they will visit the principal points of interest in France, England, Belgium, Italy, and Switzerland. They expect to return to Lowell in the early part of September.

Those who expect to make the trip are Undertaker and Mrs. Amos Archambault, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Began of Merrimack street and John B. Peabody of Merrimack street. They will be members of the party in the 25th annual national pilgrimage to Europe under the personal direction of Mr. H. M. Joseph, Joseph Avila Belanger of Montreal, Que.

According to present arrangements the tourists will leave Montreal aboard the S. S. Canada July 2 and will land at Liverpool, Eng. From there they will journey to London and then across the channel to Paris. From Paris they will go to the battlefields of the world war and then to Tours and Bordeaux. They will make a brief stop at the famous grotto of Lourdes and then cross the line into Italy, where the principal cities will be visited. They have been assured an audience with the pope, and upon leaving Italy they will journey into Belgium and later into Switzerland. The return voyage will be made on board the S. S. Megantic. Inasmuch as conditions will be negligible to stop over, it is possible that the Lowell party may visit Spain before returning to this country.

HIGH SCHOOLS WILL MEET TOMORROW

Lowell high and Manchester high will meet at Spaulding park at 3 o'clock in one of the stiffest games the local squad has yet faced this season. Coach Donahue will send in his strongest team against the New Hampshire foe. Manchester always puts a strong team into the field and it is said that this year's outfit is on a par with the best in the state. The contest will be held at the Spaulding school in previous years.

COAL TAKES DROP IN PAWTUCKETVILLE

An unexpected drop in coal occurred this noon in Pawtucketville when one of the wheels of a five-ton coal truck, owned by the Lowell Co-operative Co., snapped off in Main street at a point near Varnum avenue. The fuel was split over the car tracks and as a result traffic on the Pawtucketville line was held up for over an hour. Later the coal was transferred to another truck and the disabled machine was towed to the garage.

FAMOUS DOUGHNUT GIRL ARRIVES

Miss Stella Young, one of the famous Salvation Army "doughnut lassies" who made the succulent pastry for the American soldiers in the war zone during hostilities, arrived in Lowell today to receive the honor of a number of the week in assisting the drive for funds here. Miss Young, who was at the front through the war, will stay at the Salvation Army headquarters on Ayden street. She is a Cambridge girl.

MARLBORO MAN HEIR TO ESTATE

MARLBORO, May 17.—Peter Herbert of this city has been notified that he is an heir to an estate, included in which is a cash fortune of $150,000 and has received a large share of the money. In addition he is named in a farm of 40 acres at Thetford, Vt.

The good fortune came to him following the death of an uncle, Emory Duffin, in Thetford. For 11 years, he said, attempts had been made to find the third of the three persons entitled to the property and last week it was learned that he was the one to whom the money and share of the estate should go.

STEADY INCREASE IN R. R. OPERATING EXPENSES

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Continuing his testimony today before the senate interstate commerce committee on the railroad situation, Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co., read into the record a table to show that since 1912, there had been a steady increase in the ratio of operating expenses to net revenues. The return on property value, he said, at the same time, declined from an average of approximately five per cent. up to 1917, to 32 hundredths of one per cent. In 1920, and to one hundredth of one per cent. in February, 1921.

Mr. Willard laid before the committee tabulations which he said showed that increased transportation charges and increased bases of expense in 1920, if applied to the total business of the eastern carriers in 1910, would have resulted in a net increase in cost of $306,756,624 over the increase in revenue.

KNIGHTS PLACED ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

NANGOR, Me., May 17.—Nelson Eugene Knights of Dexter was placed on trial this morning, in the superior court, before Justice Bettray L. Smith, on an indictment alleging the murder of Alfred Corvax at Dexter on January 7. Knights entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned.

Seventeen jurymen were examined at the forenoon session of court, and six were accepted for jury duty. In the case for the prosecution is being conducted by Attorney General Ransom D. Fuller of Houlton and County Attorney Albert Blanchard of this city. A brother of the deceased, Judge Benjamin W. Blanchard of the Bangor municipal court, is defending the accused man.

STATE BOARD HAS WALK-OUT ON OWN HANDS

BOSTON, May 17.—The state board of conciliation and arbitration, which has dealt with many cases of lockout and strike, had a walkout on its own hands today. The board was conducting a hearing to determine the cause of a three months' strike of 2500 leather workers at the plants of A. C. Lawrence and Co. and the National Leather Co. in Peabody. The company representatives have held that they would recognize only their own employees and that union leaders not employed by them had no standing in the controversy. The representatives of the men have demanded that the union leaders be recognized as their spokesmen. When today's hearing developed the fact that neither side had any further suggestions for composing their differences according to Chairman Edward Fisher of the board, the board representatives withdrew. The board had declared the hearings adjourned for a week. The men previously had said they thought wage and working conditions could be compromised.

ARMY OF 175,000 DECIDED UPON

WASHINGTON, May 17.—An army of 175,000 men was decided on yesterday by the senate military affairs subcommittee considering the army appropriation bill. The measure as passed by the house provided for an army of 150,000.

In fixing the army strength at 175,000 men, the subcommittee acceded to the request of Secretary Weeks that such minimum be provided, even if other items had to be decreased. The bill to be laid before the full committee would carry $330,555,000, as compared with $220,765,000 in the house measure, and $215,000,000 in the bill vetoed by President Wilson.

SAYS WHITE SLAVERY STAMPED OUT IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, May 17.—White slavery no longer exists in New York city, declared the annual report of the activities of the New York women's police force, made public yesterday at the installation of Mrs. James M. Gordon, director of the recently opened women's police precinct. At the same time Mrs. George W. Loft formally took office as honorary deputy police commissioner.

Members of the Lucy Larcom club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. John French in West Tewksbury tomorrow afternoon.

EVERETT TRUE BY CONDO

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Trueblood will contribute financially to the defense of their daughter, Mrs. Lydia Trueblood Southard, who was arrested at Honolulu last Thursday, and is to be returned here to stand trial for the murder of her fourth husband, Edward A. Meyer.

"I have heard and believed along that Lydia is innocent," Mrs. Trueblood said today. "If she is guilty, not all the money we have and can raise could save her, and she should be punished. This is hard for a mother to say, but I am sure our decision must be the right one."

Mr. and Mrs. Trueblood have eight children.

EINSTEIN THEORY BOBS UP IN THE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The Einstein theory bobbed up in the house yesterday when Representative Kindred, democrat, New York, asked unanimously consent to extend his remarks in the Congressional Record on the "non-political subject of relativity," as advanced by the Swiss scientist.

Reserving the right to object, Representative Walsh, republican, Massachusetts, declared that ordinarily matters in the record were confined to things that one of average intelligence could understand. He asked Mr. Kindred if he expected to get the subject in such shape that the theory could be understood.

"I have been laboring earnestly with this theory for three weeks," replied the New York member, "and I am beginning to see some light."

"What legislation will it bear up on?" Mr. Walsh inquired.

"It may bear upon the legislation of the future as to its general relations with the Cosmos," said Mr. Kindred.

RESULTS OF ELECTIONS IN ITALY ANNOUNCED

ROME, May 17.—(By the Associated Press).—Government computations on the result of Sunday's parliamentary elections, based on returns received up to noon, yesterday, with 50 districts doubtful, show the election of 240 supporters of the Giolitti ministry, the newspaper La Pace states.

STEVEDORES MEET TO RATIFY AGREEMENT

BUENOS AIRES, May 17.—Members of the Stevedores' union met today to ratify the agreement reached yesterday by the government and the Port Workers' Federation to settle the strike which has been in progress here for several weeks.

The scheme provides for the "officialization" of port services by the government. While details are withheld, it is said that no truckmen or stevedores will be allowed to enter the zone without a government certificate which will be issued only to members of the truckmen's or stevedores' unions.

Enforcement of this provision would mean that more than 3000 truckmen not members of unions would be unable to work in the port zone unless admitted by the federation. This number would include men employed by many of the large commercial firms of this city.

Virtually the entire union labor element of Buenos Aires rallied to the support of the port workers during their strike.

SANTIAGO, Chile, May 17.—Announcement is made of the sale of 2,000,000 tons of nitrate by the Chilean Nitrate Producers' association, to a nitrate pool in London, the price being $14 per ton. Should the pool be forced to sell below this price, the loss will be borne equally by the pool and the producers. Payment of export duties to the Chilean government is guaranteed, even in the event there are no sales by the pool. Shipment of the nitrate will begin in September.

TO ADOPT BORAH AMENDMENT

Senator Poindexter, republican, Washington, in charge of the bill, announced he would support the Borah amendment and expected general support from the senate.

GIRL RESERVES' WORK

Demonstration of Work Done By Girl Reserves of the Y. W. C. A.

A demonstration of the work done by the girl reserves of the Lowell Young Women's Christian association was held in Kingston hall last evening. There were 250 girls present and the demonstration, which was in charge of Mrs. Cumner H. Talbot, was both interesting and instructive. The girl reserve movement works through self-reserving clubs called corps. The Lowell Girl Reserves now have six girl reserve girl corps and four junior reserve corps. The leaders are Mrs. G. L. Darling, Mrs. Cumner Talbot, and Misses Violet Black, Gladys Penney, Janet MacDougall, Edith Geesey, Evelyn Hersey and Lillian Smith. The clubs have been assisted in their work by Miss Hazel Tuttle, Mrs. C. W. Upton, Miss Maybelle Fish, Miss Lucille Washburn and Mrs. Fred Cameron. The secretaries are Miss Evelyn W. Hersey and Miss Lillian M. Smith.

WONDERFUL OPERATION

Bullet Removed From Brain of Sing Sing Prisoner—Is Now Entirely Sane

OSSENING, N. Y., May 17.—Roman Leondowski, the Sing Sing prisoner from whose brain Dr. William L. Chapman of Brooklyn, removed a bullet several weeks ago, was taken yesterday to the Danmore Hospital for the Criminal Insane to be recommitted to prison as cured of his insanity. Leondowski was an inmate of the Danmore hospital prior to his operation.

He answered a series of questions rationally yesterday and prepared a written statement expressing gratitude to Dr. Chapman for restoring his sanity and curing the violent pains in the head from which he previously suffered. Dr. Chapman, who is partially paralyzed, performed the operation while seated in a wheel chair.

U. S. SOVEREIGNTY OVER PHILIPPINES URGED

BAGUIO, P. I., May 16. (By the Associated Press).—Their desire for continuation of American sovereignty over the Philippine Islands, in opposition to the demand for independence which has been expressed in some quarters was described to the Wood-Forbes mission today by several delegations of Igorrotes.

In some instances these delegations from the tribes of northern Luzon, formerly classed as non-Christian, came hundreds of miles to Baguio.

Several Igorrotes came with the official delegations to pay their respects to former Gov. Gen. W. Cameron Forbes, co-head with Maj. Gen. Wood of the presidential mission of inquiry into Philippine conditions.

Mr. Forbes knew many of the Igorrotes in his term of office here and remembered those who came to see him. One delegation, included pupils and teachers of the eastern school founded by the Protestant Episcopal church. Some of the teachers were Igorrotes girls who were pupils of the school when Mr. Forbes was governor.

Tonight both Gen. Wood and Mr. Forbes met about 30 American district superintendents of public schools. Practically all of these declared that the Filipino people were courteous and respectful toward American teachers and that their attitude had not undergone any change in recent years.

The department undertook gratuitously to check and check the records of the 152,000 men originally carried on the draft deserter's list and reduced the list to approximately 155,000 names, the statement said, and thus far but four cases have officially developed where names of men were wrongfully carried on the list. The department asserts that in three of these cases the claim is made that the men themselves were at least partially responsible for the error. The names referred to, all of which have been expunged from the deserter lists, are:

Stanley H. French, Brooklyn, N. Y., served in navy as an officer. Gave different addresses to draft board and naval authorities.

Alfred Dunn, Brazil, New York, served in an allied army but never reported the fact to his local board, the adjutant general of his state or the war department.

Howard H. Millinson, address not given, inducted and served honorably. Carried on draft deserter lists erroneously.

William Sutherland Bacon, Chicago, commissioned an officer in the army after registering for the draft. Failed to respond to communications sent him by draft authorities and listed as a deserter. Carried on army rolls under a different address than that given draft board and missed in check of lists.

Sen. Johnson Loses Fight

Penrose of the committee planned to seek action by the senate on the nomination late today or tomorrow, as Secretary Mellon is now exercising functions of the post because of the vacancy.

The committee's action was a defeat for Senator Johnson, republican, California, in his fight against Mr. Blair's confirmation. Extensive hearings on the nomination have been held by the committee on Senator Johnson's charges that Mr. Blair violated the North Carolina primary law as a delegate to the Chicago convention and also that the senator was qualified because his father-in-law and wife were interested in an income tax case over which he would have jurisdiction as commissioner. The committee, after a possible hearing, will issue a favorable report, it was said, although the vote was not recorded.

While awaiting a reply to the ultimatum, Korfanty is strengthening the frontier forces, adding to them from all available sources in the interior and leaving only sentinels to garrison the posts, which are secured against a possible German offensive movement by reason of their distance from the "front."

German interests object to the proposed special currency issue on the ground that under existing conditions such money would be rated at lower value than Polish money and that ultimately it would become worthless and have an embarrassing effect on all industries.

Adventures of The Twins

"ARE YOU CIRCUS FOLK?" INQUIRED ZIPPY TIMIDLY.

"What do you mean by saying that you were the person who sometimes helped to pull the great golden wagon in the circus?" asked Mrs. Ostrich of Zippy Zebra.

Zippy answered proudly. "Why, because I took turns with each of them. One day I'd be at the head of the brown ponies, the next with the milk-white ones and the next day I'd help the coal black ones. Then I'd begin all over again."

"But why?" Miss Ostrich insisted upon knowing.

"Because," answered Zippy importantly. "Because I was considered the most ornamental pony in the whole circus."

"Huh!" said Mrs. Ostrich doubtfully. Zippy got cross at that. "I was more appointed there than I am here," he retorted. "Other folks think I am handsome, even if you don't."

Zippy went on with his grazing and thereafter kept up an indignant silence without any chuckling. Pretty soon he flapped his right ear, then his left ear, then both of them. "Cause they were burning, but because he heard something—steps—and coming right toward him. He looked up in startled alarm. Mr. and Mrs. Ostrich had heard the steps also, but taking flight, left their silly old heads quickly in the ground, thinking that they couldn't be seen.

Pipety-Pip, Nancy and Nick were close upon Zippy before he discovered them, and being taken by surprise he started to run. Then he stopped and slowly came back. The fairman's enormous shoes had caught his eye, also the Magic Green ones the twins wore. Shoes in things like that made him homesick every time.

"Are you circus folks?" inquired Zippy, timidly.

"Yes," nodded Pipety-Pip. "but not the way you mean. However, we are going there now. Would you like to come along?"

"I believe I should," nodded Zippy. "Then come right along," beckoned the fairman. When the Ostriches pulled up their heads, Zippy Zebra was gone, his ears turned back.

ASSERTS A WORLD WAR MAY BE COMING

"We are preparing the germs for another world war," asserted Rev. William H. H. Van Allen, S.T.D., rector of the Church of the Advent, Episcopal, in Boston. In an address before the Lowell Baptist Social Union in the First Baptist church last night. The speaker called upon his hearers to take vigorous hold of the work of spreading Christianity as a means of preventing a war. "With all the nations working shoulder to shoulder for the furtherance of the religion of Christ," the speaker asserted, "there can be no war, but peace in the world."

"The world war has shown us," Dr. van Allen said, "that all wars are by opinion. The propaganda distributed throughout this country by Germany and England show that there is foundation for this statement."

Because public opinion is going to be such a strong factor in the future, we common people should prepare ourselves.

"Even up to the time when we entered the world war, many people called it the war to end war but this has not come true and now we realize our hopes have failed. We all agree that we want peace but we must prepare ourselves so that we may know what to do. There can be no surety of an absence of war as long as sin remains on the earth."

"I do not believe that the way to end war is by general disarmament of the army and navy, for as soon as there is no force behind the government there will be an uprising over the entire face of the earth just as that terrible one in Russia."

"We cannot afford another war."

Two Americans Ordered Out of Mexico

MEXICO CITY, May 17.—Frank Seamus, alleged to be an American agitator, another American whose name was not announced, and two Spaniards have been ordered expelled from Mexico on the ground that they are "pernicious foreigners." This charge was preferred under article 33 of the constitution and was a result of their participation in the radical invasion of the chamber of deputies last week. Demonstrations in government buildings and in churches have been forbidden by President Obregon. Gendarmes guarded every entrance to the chamber yesterday and persons entering the building were searched for arms. President Obregon has ordered federal officers to use every means at their command to ascertain the cause of the Catholic-socialist clash at Morelia, which was described in the president's order as "an act of intemperance and intolerance."

Detroit Woman Held for Murder of Boy

DETROIT, May 17.—Mrs. Elizabeth Lewen, 52 years old, is now charged with the murder of Max Ernest, a six-year-old boy, who disappeared from his home last Wednesday, and whose body was found in a marsh yesterday. She had been in custody on a charge of kidnapping the child. The boy had been strangled and there were marks of violence on the head. No fingerprints were found on the body, but a gray strand of hair, about four or five inches long, was entangled in the boy's clothing. Mrs. Lewen was arrested Saturday. Frank E. Ernest, the boy's father, charged that the woman kidnapped Max to avenge a fancied wrong in a recent business deal and neighbors identified her as the woman who drove the boy away in an automobile. She had denied any knowledge of the lad's disappearance.

Tension Over Polish Revolt Passes

LONDON, May 17.—Tension over the Polish revolt in Silesia, which over the week-end threatened a crisis in the ranks of the entente, seemed here today to have passed, for the moment at least. Exchange of views on the subject has been proceeding between London and Paris, and there seemed to be confidence that Prime Minister Lloyd George and Premier Briand would reach an understanding when they meet. It appeared probable that the two premiers would hold a conference early next week.

Tennessee Out for Additional Tests

ROCKLAND, Me., May 17.—The superdreadnaught Tennessee, which was pushed by her electric drive at a top speed of 21.378 knots an hour in her first tests yesterday went back to the measured mile course off Owl's Head today for additional trial spins today. Her performances in the primary runs were said to have exceeded contract requirements in the important details of maximum speed and maximum horse power. Her runs today were to test separately the inboard and outboard screws and reversal of the screws at full speed. It was expected she would leave for Boston tonight or tomorrow, making a test run on the way.

Losing Flesh?

It Is Dangerous—Here's the Reason Why?

A certain amount of fuel is needed every day we live to keep up the vital processes. A normal healthy person secures all of this needed fuel from his food. But if the stomach and digestive system does not take all the needed fuel from the food we eat, Nature draws on the body itself and burns tissue as fuel and of course we begin to get thin and lose flesh. This weakens the body and opens the way to various disease germs to which we fall easy victims.

Because the food elements of Father John's Medicine supply the fuel our bodies need, the wasting away stops when we begin taking this old-fashioned, wholesome tonic. Expert chemists have proved the great food and fuel value of Father John's Medicine and because it is guaranteed free from alcohol or dangerous drugs, it is the safe food tonic for all the family.

Begin taking it now and see how steadily you gain in flesh and health.

GROUP OF CHILDREN AT ANNUAL MAY PICNIC OF GREEK SCHOOL

Annual Festival

Continued

For Souths, Mrs. Gallatia Souths, Miss Florence Shannahan, Miss Mildred Colby and Roussos Pallatianos.

Just before 9 o'clock the youngsters were huddled into automobiles, and the procession started for the picnic grounds in Pawtucketville. There was no ban on noise, and people in the streets were made aware by the shouting and cheering that something was doing for the youngsters.

Ball Games Started

At the picnic grounds the children quickly dispersed themselves over the grassy field. Young girls romped and played to their hearts' content. Some set up miniature housekeeping establishments, with improvised dolls for the younger members of the families. In the shade of trees, for the boys there were baseball bats, gloves and masks, and half a dozen games had been started before the picnic was ten minutes old.

At noon came the lunch, eaten in picnic fashion beneath the trees. Such a lunch it was, too, with many dainties near to childish palates. Ice cream and ginger pop there was, of course, in plenty.

After-lunch there was a brief rest. Then came singing in Greek and English. The Greek singing was led by Mr. Pallatianos; that in English by Miss Shannahan.

Songs of Fatherland

Many of the songs of the Greek fatherland were given with spirit and enthusiasm. The Greek national anthem was sung, and the notes of "The Spangled Banner," sung by the youngsters, caused passing motorists to draw up their machines and listen.

In the afternoon the children received a visit from the members of the Greek Community school committee, headed by Harry Boush, president.

About 5 o'clock this afternoon, the last sandwich had disappeared, the last ice cream cone had been eaten, the last ball game won, the last doll put to bed for its night's slumber, and the youngsters started on their return journey to their homes.

The May picnic goes down in the history of the children of the Greek school as a red letter festival.

Children Romp at May Picnic--Annual Festival of Greek Children Held On Shores of the Merrimack

GROUP OF CHILDREN AT ANNUAL MAY PICNIC OF GREEK SCHOOL.

The annual picnic of the pupils of the Greek community school in this city was held today on the grounds adjacent to the municipal bathhouse. It was a May day festival.

The Greek and Georgian calendars are at odds in their assignment of dates. In both calendars there is a May day. For people who count the passage of days in accordance with the Greek usage the festival comes at a time sufficiently late in the season to permit of the enjoyment of out-of-door pleasures. If the kids who participated in today's outing could have had the weather made to order it could not have been more to their liking. At an early hour many childish eyes anxiously peered out of doors to discover if it was pleasant. Originally it had been planned to have the outing last Saturday. A storm caused a postponement.

It was with joy, therefore, that the children and their school teachers welcomed the cloudless sky of today. The sun never shone brighter. The grass was never greener. The trees never more beautiful.

Shortly after 8 o'clock this morning all roads trodden by childish feet in the Greek section led to the community school house. There the children were greeted by their teachers. Principal Pe-

The Boston College campaign to raise $2,000,000 for a building fund has ended successfully and Lowell comes in for a large share of praise for helping to make the campaign the splendid success that it was. This city has contributed approximately $41,000 to the drive.

The tower clock which has been standing in Merrimack square indicating the progress of the drive for the past two weeks today was an emblem of victory with the hands pointing to the $2,000,000 mark and signifying that the statewide quota had been raised.

DROP IN PRICE

Woman Who Sold Hooch to Officer Arraigned in Police
Court

"Price is Going Down, Fine Defendant $100," Said the
Court

Is this section getting wetter instead of dryer, as the days of prohibition progress? At least, the price of moonshine, rather than becoming higher, seems to be getting "within the reach of all." If a case from Dracut, heard by Judge Enright in the police court this morning, is any indication, Officer Cullinan of the Dracut force told the court of a half-pint being sold for the extremely reasonable sum of 65 cents, by a woman who was charged with illegal sale. "The price is going down," was his Honor's comment, before fining the woman $100. "Yes, it's quite a reduction," observed Deputy Downey.

The woman, who pleaded guilty to selling the "shine" to a police representative, is the mother of three children and her husband has not worked since Christmas. When informed through an interpreter that she must pay $100, she declared that "I haven't got it today."

"Ask her how soon she thinks she could get it?" Judge Enright told the interpreter, who said for the defendant that she believed she could earn it within a couple of months. "Well, she'll have to earn it before that, or go to jail," remarked his Honor.

The defendant, when this decision had been communicated to her, suddenly came to the opinion that she might be able to procure the necessary funds within the much briefer space of a week. This length of time was according to her, and her case was put over to May 21. Officer Cullinan said he thought she could be safely released without bail as she and her husband have a little piece of land on the old road, opposite the old paper mill. She was allowed to go on $1 bond furnished by the officer.

A definite announcement from the company as to the exact date of the beginning of the new rates will be made within a day or two.

Lakeview Fare Reduced

The company also announced today that in accordance with a resolution adopted by the local home rule committee on motion of Secretary John B. Curtin at its last meeting, special rates between Merrimack Square and Lakeview park will be in effect during the summer season. Beginning May 26 and continuing until Labor day, the fare between these two points will be ten cents instead of the present 20-cent cash fare or a double punch of the reduced rate ticket.

RENT CONCESSIONS BY
CHICAGO LANDLORDS

CHICAGO, May 17.—Rent concessions as inducements to prospective tenants were offered in Chicago today for the first time in several years. A real estate firm advertised free rent until June 1 on two apartments in a choice residential section. One was six rooms, sun parlor and bath for $120 a month, while the other was four rooms and bath for $75. Real estate agents said that the higher priced apartments were plentiful but that there were none of the moderate priced variety for rent.

TEMPERED JUSTICE
WITH MERCY

With husband out of work, and six children to be clothed and fed, a woman appeared in the police court this morning charged with shop-lifting at the F. B. Nelson company store last Saturday night. Taking into consideration the desperate circumstances of this wife and mother, hit hard by the unemployment situation, and stealing the sweater and stockings which were shown in court, perhaps to clothe her little ones, Judge Enright mercifully fixed sentence as a $10 fine, which he gave the woman a month to pay. The goods were recovered.

FORTLAND, Me., May 17.—Eighty-four hours in an open boat and near collapse from hunger and exhaustion, Thomas E. Armstrong of Biddeford and Stephen Perry of Cape Porpoise, members of the crew of the fishing schooner Angeline Noonan, who were lost in the fog Friday, were picked up nine miles off Boone Island and brought to this port by the steamer Ransom B. Fuller early today. Attention of the crew was drawn to the fishermen by their cries and the rapid blowing of a horn. The men left the schooner to fish while about 70 miles off Cape Cod, and when the fog began to settle down around them, they lost sight of the Noonan until late in the afternoon, when for a few minutes, they discerned her so far to the windward that they could not reach her. They had rowed more than 150 miles when picked up.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The war department issued a statement today expressing surprise at the "constant fire of drastic criticism" which followed its action in publishing lists of deserters from the draft as shown by the department's records. Despite the urgency of "patriotic societies and the relatives of men who did their full duty and who, in many cases, gave up their lives in the service," that the slacker lists be given out, the statement said, "it is now insisted that the lists should never have been published at all until the department was absolutely convinced that there appeared thereon the name of no man who actually rendered either military or naval service during the world war."

GUARD MINGO
FIGHTING FRONT

Authorities Hear of Activities
Increasing Behind the Bat-

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., May 17.—Preparations are being made to anticipate any untoward activities on the Mingo fighting front next Thursday, the anniversary of the battle of Mattedan, 1920, in which 10 persons were killed, including the mayor and seven private detectives. Although hostilities have ceased practically on the West Virginia-Kentucky border, where the industrial controversy has caused warfare, activities are increasing behind the battle lines, according to authorities here.

The state police have been stationed at strategic points throughout the fighting zone and are ready for a renewal of the firing. In the meantime, officials of Mingo county, West Virginia, have sent repeated petitions to Governor Morgan urging that federal troops be sent into the district and martial law be declared.

CORN

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly! Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.—Adv.

"TIZ" FOR TIRED AND SORE FEET

Use "Tiz" for puffed-up, burning, aching, calloused feet and corns

Why go limping around with aching, puffed-up feet—feet so tired, chafed, sore and swollen you can hardly get your shoes on or off? Why don't you get a box of "Tiz" from the drug store now and gladden your tortured feet? "Tiz" makes your feet glow with comfort; takes down swellings and draws the soreness and misery right out of feet that chafe, smart and burn. "Tiz" instantly stops pain in corns, callouses and bunions. "Tiz" is glorious for tired, aching, sore feet. No more shoe tightness—no more foot torture.—Adv.

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Earsol (double strength), and add to it 1 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous also draining into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Adv.

For Thin Waists and Sleeveless Gowns

(Toilet Tip)

A safe, certain method of ridding the skin of ugly, hairy growths is as follows: Mix a paste with some powdered salicylic acid and water, apply to hairy surface about 2 minutes, then rub off with the skin and the hairs are gone. This is entirely harmless and seldom requires repeating, but to avoid disappointment it is advisable to see that you get genuine salicylic acid. Mix fresh as wanted.—Adv.

BURNIE IN COURT AGAIN

And, Like Jim Fiske, George Wears His Heart On His Sleeve

Well, well, our old friend, George Burnie, was with us in the police court this morning. And he was ready to explain everything, as of course he'd have to be, or he wouldn't be George. He was arrested on a capias, when he had failed to complete the payment of a fine imposed in April on drunkenness charges. He made it clear to the court that it was by no means his fault that he was re-arrested. No, indeed, George had the money "coming to him," but it appears that it is "tied up." George was given until June 17 to settle his funds. According to Probation Officer Slatery, today marks the sixth time that George has made before the local court within the past year. For neglect to pay a previous fine he was in the custody of the county at the house of correction for two months. Recently, when he came before Judge Enright and was fined, Officer Aldrich insisted that George's specialty was "rolling men." To this accusation, George returned the indignant response that "he never rolled a man in his life." It was all true, he conceded, that he had borrowed a dollar from an acquaintance, while he already was parking $59 in his kiosk. But this was simple enough, as he described it.

He merely asked his friend for the bone, "and I got it." George couldn't see anything strange about that. If he wanted to borrow a dollar, and the other party in the transaction could be persuaded to come across, he didn't see that having $59 already had anything to do with the matter. And indeed, when one comes to think of it, there's no law against borrowing a dollar, even though you are possessed of the wealth of Rockefeller. But George is not merely a borrower. He is just as generous with others as he looks for them to be with him. One of the officers testified that when George was arrested, he was giving money away. George suavely explained this, also. "When people give me, I give them," he proclaimed as his rule of conduct. This, too, seemed a blameless way of behaving. In fact, George's entire day, previous to his recent arrest, revolved no ill deed, save the indiscretion of inebriating unlawful fluids. He had left his home, he related, in the morning, the happy possessor of $50. Later he borrowed another iron man. As he explained, "he just got it. I asked for it, and I got it." Then he commenced his benefactions, giving them as he gave him. At this point his eventful day was terminated at the station house. George was admonished to be found no more within the law's precincts, on penalty of an extended sojourn at the state farm. He was fined $15, and an extension was granted for him to the fact that he had to pay his $59 to a friend to whom he owed it.

Manager J. W. Schaake, of the Opera House, says he doesn't know of any agreement among the theatre managers against collecting for drives in theatres as reference has been made in the newspapers to such an alleged agreement in connection with the Salvation Army drive. Mr. Schaake says the collectors for this drive are free to solicit contributions at the Opera House at any time provided they notify the management and show proper credentials. Furthermore, he says he will offer the use of the Opera House free of charge next Sunday evening for the benefit of the drive if the Salvationists want to use it for that purpose.

PROBATE COURT IN SESSION HERE TODAY

Justice Lawton presided over the contested session of the probate court, which was held in this city this morning. This is the first time it has been presided over a court session in Lowell since Justice John C. Lawton was appointed on the bench, and his visit to Lowell was for the purpose of disposing of a half dozen cases that have been assigned him. Inasmuch as none of the interested parties were ready for trial, however, all cases were continued to a later date.

Justice Lawton presided at the other session and allowed the following will:

Pauline Lutz, Lowell; Mary E. Dickinson, Billerica; Charles F. Kelley, Lowell; Joseph King, Dracut; Margaret LeFebvre, Lowell; Mary E. LeFebvre, Lowell; and Eugene Theriot, Lowell. The administrators granted were as follows: Mrs. Marshall, Dracut; Louis Toupin, Lowell; Mary E. LeFebvre, Lowell; Elmer E. Johnson, Reading; Alfred LeFebvre, Lowell; and Edward H. Clifton, Lowell.

Too often one's wants are prone to keep pace with one's income; the person of ample means buys everything and enjoys nothing. He wallows in over-abundance and suffers from a surfeit of Plenty. There are many whose weekly payments for porterhouses would much more than pay for one of these splendid pianos; it's a safe bet that all such have no music in their souls—they have no "need" of a piano.

If you have a love for music, now is the time to satisfy it.

In the formation of this Thrift Club we had a full appreciation of the fact that oftentimes the people of finer tastes have not the means to gratify their wishes. But we also know that such people have the best of credit; so we have arranged a system of long-time payments that is unique in its benefits and advantages.

All you who love music for music's sake—all you of fine taste and good judgment—you with good homes and growing children and a desire to cultivate the better things of life—come and be one of us; become a member of this Thrift Club and the thing "you most devoutly wished for" shall be yours.

Your welcome here is not dependent on the amount of money you bring; just come and get into the wholesome and hearty spirit of the thing—you will enjoy it as we do and be the gainer thereby.

That the Purchasing Agent be and he is hereby authorized and empowered in behalf of the City of Lowell to enter into a contract with Antonio Palumbo for the furnishing to the City of Lowell for use in its department of street-cleaning a supply of crude kerosene for the season of 1921 at the price set forth in the bid, said Palumbo having been the lowest bidder.

ing on the subject in city hall that the members of the chamber who are foremost in pushing the movement for involving the initiative were unwilling to come out into the open and let their identity become known.

The board of strategy met last night and discussed plans for the gathering of the 3600 signatures that will be necessary to place the proposed ordinance before the municipal council. It is understood that a letter will be sent out calling upon all of the members of the chamber to take part in the work of getting the petitions signed.

A final count was made of the ballots cast in the contract labor referendum today. The record showed that 545 voted in favor of contract work, 10 against and that one ballot was returned blank.

The committee appointed at yesterday's meeting of the board of directors was engaged today in formulating the petition and accompanying order that is to be presented to the council. The members of the committee are James G. Hill, M. O'Donoghue, Stanley M. Qua and James M. Bowers.

The exhibit of the products of Lowell industries, now open in the chamber's rooms, was a centre of interest for a number of persons today. Invitations were sent out by telephone to the city's school to have teachers and pupils inspect the display.

It is announced that many reservations are being received for the membership luncheon of the chamber to be held in the New American restaurant tomorrow at 12:15. Felix Vorenburg, head of a large Boston department store, is to be present and speak on the sales tax.

A telegram has been received at the chamber's rooms announcing that President Harding, Vice President Coolidge and Secretaries Hughes and Hoover are to speak at a dinner of New York commercial organizations in the Hotel Commodore in New York city, May 23. Lowell people desiring to be present at the dinner can secure reservations by applying to the officials of the local chamber.

BODY OF BILLERICA BOY ON WAY HOME

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. John McGrath of 33 Wilson street, North Billerica, that the body of their son, Private William H. McGrath, who died in France, will arrive in this country on May 21. Private McGrath enlisted in the spring of 1918 and after a short period of training at Camp Dix was sent to France. He died on Oct. 3, 1918. Final plans for the funeral have not been completed but it is expected that the Billerica post of the American Legion will take charge of the arrangements. Inasmuch as Private McGrath was the only North Billerica man to give his life in the service of his country in the world war, it is hoped to have his body lie in state in Matthew hall. Members of the legion will keep watch over their late comrade.

DEAR LITTLE KITTENS!

And Just Think of the Disgrace of Having Been Born at the Police Station—Horror!

Your boy or girl, who is going to high school will tell you that Wordsworth once wrote a poem entitled "We Are Seven." It referred to seven little girls. Some moderns, hard, pushing the police station today, might have written one with the same name, but it would have been about seven kittens. Yup, they've got seven of 'em running around, getting under everyone's feet, but so cute an everything, that nobody minds. There are black ones, and yellow ones, and ones that are all mixed. Some are bigger 'n others, but none of 'em are so very big. They seem to like their quarters, and they play around in the sunshine, in front of the door, and don't seem to mind the fact that they're only a few feet from the fatal "gas box," where so many felines have taken their last long sleep.

GRANITEVILLE BOYS FOR NAVAL SERVICE

Peter Shannon Boudreau, Walter Russell Stuart, and George Anthony Droscher, three Graniteville young men, have all been accepted for the naval service. It was learned at local recruiting headquarters today. The trio made out their applications Saturday, when Chief Bow's Mate Randall, of the Lowell staff, went out to Graniteville, his native town, by way, and explained why being a man-o-war's man is a job worth having. After taking the physical examinations at Boston, they were all accepted. Yesterday John Duchette, of Middlesex street, and John Higgins, of Hudson street, also hooked up with the sea forces. All of the quintet will head for the Newport, R. I., training station, except Duchette, who is an ex-service man and who took advantage of the opportunity accorded to out-vets, of taking a course at the out-burning school in Philly.

France and Poland Have Biggest Armies

WASHINGTON, May 17.—France and Poland lead by large majorities the other continental nations of Europe in military effectiveness now under arms, according to British statistics received here today in official circles. France controls approximately two-thirds of the slightly more than three million men reported under arms today in Europe, it was pointed out, by her understanding concluded with Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Roumania and Jugo-Slavia.

Wealthy Man's Son Given 20 Years

CHICAGO, May 17.—Herbert Prentice Crane, son of a wealthy manufacturer, has been sentenced to serve from one to 20 years in the penitentiary. He was convicted of having attempted to attack a 13-year-old girl. His attorneys served notice that they would appeal.

NEW SYSTEM OF SAFETY FIRST TEACHING

What is known as the "traffic" game has been instituted in the local public schools by Major Walter R. Jeyes, a physical instructor and this game, besides being very amusing, is proving of great benefit to the pupils as it serves to teach them safe and strict observance of traffic rules and regulations.

This game is being played at recess and in order to make everything right, the school yard is marked off to represent a section of a highway and a crossing. The children are then divided into two groups, one designated as pedestrians and the other as "motor vehicles." One of the older pupils, usually a boy, is chosen as traffic officer. The two groups line up, one behind the crossing and the other behind the line indicating the curbstone. Both sides watch carefully for the first signal. If one hand is raised against the pedestrians and the other signals the motor vehicles to come on, the pedestrians cannot cross their line, but the "motor cars" must move quickly, as they do on a real highway. If the first signal is set against the autos, then the pedestrians begin to cross at a smart gait, but they are not permitted to run.

The stream in motion cannot stop while the hand signal is "open," but the moment it is changed, any pupil who crosses the line loses one point for his side, and becomes a "casualty." He withdraws from the game and stands to one side. Pedestrians who cannot also be counted out. The traffic officer is the umpire of disputed points. This game is making a hit with the boys and girls.

Reduced Fares for Lowell

ducing wages of its employees 20 per cent, and also reducing fares, the local home rule committee visited the trustees at their office in Boston to ascertain just what reduction Lowell would get. At that time, with prospects of a 20 per cent. wage reduction in view, the trustees agreed to give Lowell riders 15 rides for $1. Now that the state arbitration board has decreed that the employees shall be reduced only 12½ per cent., Lowell riders are to receive a smaller reduction in the cost of their transportation.

John B. Curtin, secretary of the local home rule committee, this morning received a copy of the scale of fare reductions proposed for Lowell, together with the following explanatory letter from Homer Loring, chairman of the public trustees:

Dear Sir: You have already learned of the state board of arbitration and conciliation in regard to wages and working conditions on this road. The reduction in wages was substantially less than the 20 per cent. requested by the public trustees, and it has been necessary to amend the schedule to revise accordingly the proposed reduction in fares.

I enclose herewith schedule of the fare changes to be made in the Lowell district. The new schedule is being printed and will be placed on sale as soon as received, early in the week of May 23.

Yours truly,

HOMER LORING,
Chairman of the Public Trustees.

SALLIE'S SOLICITORS START WORK EARLY

With the bright sunshine this morning solicitors for the Salvation Army drive were out early in search of funds. Particular attention is being given to the business section of the city. The Army leaders, with their requests for subscriptions, are meeting with a satisfactory reception, and many who have previously given to the fund are making second contributions. It is announced that there will be no let-up in the campaign until the full $15,000 quota for Lowell is raised.

STOLEN AUTO NUMBERS

Sneak Thief Purloined Package Containing Two Auto Plates Numbers Would Win Clearance House Pool

Why a sneak thief should walk off with a package containing two automobile number plates of his, was more than J. D. Rose, of Taunton, could savvy, when he came to police headquarters this morning to report the incident. He was soon enlightened, however, when a police official freely explained that "they'll steal anything." As it was thought that the number plate might be used illegally by whoever has come into possession of them, the number was given to the press. It is $175. So if you see that number on a car, may be J. D. Rose's car—or it may not. Mr. Rose stopped at a local hotel last evening, and left his bags, together with a package in which the plates were wrapped, while he took his car to a garage nearby. Later he missed the plates, although the bags had been left untouched.

Wants City to Use Ledge

that Mr. Pallotto's plant was within a mile of the city ledge and he saw no reason why some of the present unemployment could not be relieved by having a larger gang working at the city ledge.

Thus began another episode in the contract vs. city labor campaign which is being waged on the street paving question with the chamber of commerce strongly championing the contract side of the question.

Commissioner Murphy was absent from the meeting and a statement from him was accordingly not available. However, Mayor Perry Thompson took up the absent commissioner's cause and said that he believed there were now enough men employed at the ledge to keep the stone crusher there going at full capacity, but that these men cannot supply stone fast enough for the needs of the department. However, Commissioner Marchand remained unconvinced. It was voted to instruct the city clerk to advertise Mr. Murphy's vote and it will come up for action later.

The council voted to attend the memorial open air mass to be celebrated on the South common Memorial day morning, and the city will pay the expense of erecting whatever structure is necessary.

Meeting in Detail

The meeting was called by Mayor Thompson at 10:05. Commissioners Murphy and Salmon were absent, but Mr. Salmon came in later.

A hearing was held on the petition of Patrick F. Mahoney for a gasoline license at 38 Fourth street. Referred to Commissioner Salmon.

Similar action was taken on the petition of George W. Morrison for a garage and gasoline license at 336 Hill-dreth street.

The petition of the Lowell Electric Light Corporation for a franchise in Market street was referred to Commissioners Murphy and Marchand.

The petition of Mrs. Alice Ouellette for a curbstone on a portion of Dracut st. was referred to Commissioner Murphy.

The petition of Fred Longtin, et al, that Smith avenue be macadamized, was also referred to Mr. Murphy.

Similar action was taken on the petition of Irving C. Small, et al, that edgestones, a cinder sidewalk, curbstones and edgestones be laid in Arcadia avenue.

The petition of Euchariste Bellefeuille et al, that Deland street be accepted and that electric lights be installed was referred to Commissioner Murphy.

Hearings will be held June 7 on the petitions of Francis H. Goward for a garage and gasoline license at 271 Appleton street and Bagley's Y. D. Garage for a gasoline license at 305-10 Westford st.

The petition of Lull and Harford for a license to sell firearms was referred to the mayor and Commissioner Marchand.

The claim of Mary Tristram for bodily injuries alleged to have been sustained as the result of a fall in Lakeview avenue near Broughton avenue on April 14 was referred to the law department.

At the request of Dennis J. Murphy, counsel for William H. Bamford, an employee of the fire department, the hearing on Mr. Bamford's petition for retirement was postponed one week.

The following petitions were referred for hearing May 31:

New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. re-located one pole in Branch st. between 115 and 122; Lowell Electric Light corporation, one pole in Dracut street, one pole in Princeton street, one pole in A. street, one pole in Burnham street.

The report of Commissioners Murphy and Marchand on the petition of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for the erection of one pole in Eighth st. was read and the accompanying order adopted.

The mayor read a letter from Rev. William F. Mahan, O.M.L., chairman of Lowell post 87, American Legion, inviting the members of the council to attend the memorial mass to be celebrated on the South common on the

LIGHT ON THE NEW CHARTER

Views of the Charter Commission as to Import of Its Provisions

Readers Should Save This Series of Articles for Reference

Following is the third letter giving the views or explanation of the charter commission on the provisions of the new charter. Readers of The Sun are requested to cut these articles out, study them and thus acquire an intelligent understanding of the framework of the city government of 1922:

The New Charter—Sections 6-17

We have endeavored to show in the analysis of the previous five sections that it is an unwise policy to combine all functions of government in one individual and that a separation of such duties and powers is desirable. If efficient results are to be secured.

Section 6—Provides that the mayor and city council shall exercise such powers and authority as are vested in mayors and city councils by the general laws of the commonwealth.

Section 7—Provides that the first city election under the new charter shall be held on the second Tuesday of December of the current year, and thereafter city elections shall be held biennially in every odd numbered year. This means that a mayor and entire new city council shall be elected every two years. On the third Tuesday preceding every city election there shall be held a preliminary or primary election for the purpose of nominating candidates to be voted for at the city election. This section provides the same time for nomination and election of candidates as does the present charter.

Sections 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14—Provide for the names of the candidates to be placed upon the official ballot; qualifications required; form of petition and statement of candidates; time of filing petition and statement; election of party designations; canvassing of returns by the election commission; and publication of same; designation of names on official ballot election day, and arrangement in case of a tie vote.

The salient points of these sections are as follows: There shall not be printed on the official ballot at a primary election the name of a candidate unless he or she has filed a statement as provided. Petitions of candidates must bear the signatures of at least 50 qualified voters. Position on the ballot shall not be in alphabetical order, but by lot as drawn by the election commission. There shall be no party designation. All candidates participating in a tie vote at a primary election shall have their names printed on the official ballot election day, although in consequence there be printed the names of candidates to a number exceeding twice the number to be elected.

Section 15—Provides for the abolishment of the present government at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of the first Monday in January, 1922. At that time the terms of office of the present mayor, city council and school committee shall terminate. Also, the terms of office of all sub heads of departments now holding office under indefinite tenure shall terminate, except the present incumbents of the board of park commissioners, board of sinking fund commissioners, board of library trustees, board of license commissioners, board of cemetery commissioners and board of election commissioners. An exception is made with these boards for the reason that they are now elected for a definite and specified tenure, and it is only reasonable inasmuch as they are now serving a fixed and definite tenure of office that they be permitted to fill out their unexpired term. The present city sealer, and inspector of milk and vinegar are continued in office under civil service regulation at the insistence of the committee on cities, on the ground that they are prosecuting officers of the state. The moth superintendent is continued in office with civil service protection, through an amendment offered in the senate. This amendment does not meet with the approval of the charter commission. It is a question how long such an official will be needed.

The importance of this section is based upon the fact that under the new charter every head of a department, member or members of boards and commissions, except the city sealer, milk inspector and moth superintendent will have to come up for election at definite intervals. They will no longer have the protection of civil service to keep them permanently in office. Continuance in office will be based upon ability and efficiency rather than civil service. Such a change from the established order of things has naturally aroused intense opposition to the new charter from those personally affected, not one of whom had any serious objection to displacing someone else when they were elected to office, many, many years ago. They shall remain in office until their successors are elected and qualified. It does not mean that the present incumbents of these offices are disqualified from serving in office under the new charter, but it does mean that they must take their chances with other citizens, who under present conditions never have a chance for an appointment or election to office. It would seem a fair and reasonable requirement.

Section 16—Simply provides that on the first Monday of January, 1922, and every second year thereafter, the mayor, elect and councillors elect shall meet and be sworn to the faithful performance of duty.

Section 17—Provides that a majority of the council shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. The next article will deal with administrative officers, showing how elected and their respective terms of office, etc.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Woman Was Overcome By Gas When Light in Stove Went Out

The light in her gas stove went out, and Jennie Morgan, about 60, was overcome by fumes and barely escaped death at her Congress street home last night. Only the sharp ears of a neighbor, who detected her groans and summoned aid, saved the woman from asphyxiation. Dr. Ginsberg, notified by the neighbor, in turn communicated with the police. Sergt. Bigelow, on night duty at the station house, proceeded with all speed to the woman's residence, bringing the police lungmator, but this was found to be unnecessary when he arrived, as first aid measures had sufficiently recovered the victim. The woman was taken in an ambulance to the Lowell Corporation hospital for treatment for gas poisoning. Mrs. Marland, a next-door neighbor, was probably the means of saving the woman's life, as she heard her groans and took immediate action.

CONGRESSMAN ROGERS FOR DISARMAMENT

(Special to The Sun) PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—Congressman John Jacob Rogers of Lowell, Mass., addressed the American Academy of Political and Social Science at its annual banquet held here tonight. Mr. Rogers is ranking member of the foreign affairs committee of the house and his address was listened to with keen interest. Mr. Rogers said in part: "There is no probability that any international agreement can be reached at present regarding disarmament or land forces, on account of the conditions in Europe, but my own view is emphatically that there is a very definite hope of future success in securing a reduction of naval armament. The naval strength of a nation is relative, not actual. The cry and purpose of disarmament is to establish a lower common denominator for the navies of the world. The relative naval strength of Great Britain, the United States and Japan may be indicated by the units, 21, 20 and 14. But if Great Britain and Japan proceed with their building program and the United States drops hers, then the ratio will be Great Britain, 21;

Japan, 14 and the United States but 12. Thus the combined strength of Great Britain and Japan would be thrice that of the United States. Relative strength is the only thing to be considered in mapping out a naval program. Mr. Rogers gave a table of the relative strength of the great nations of the world showing the low point to which the United States would sink if it failed to keep pace with the naval programs of the other great nations. Mr. Rogers made reference to the agreement signed in 1917, between the United States and Great Britain regarding naval defenses on the Great Lakes. That agreement started in negotiations begun in 1912 by Secretary of State John Quincy Adams, and is still in force. "It has given both Canada and the United States many years of peace," said he. "The agreement provided that the British defense on those lakes should consist only of one vessel on Lake Ontario, 'not exceeding 100 tons burthen and armed with one 18 pound cannon; on the upper lake, two vessels not exceeding 1100 burthen armed with like force; on the upper waters of Lake Chaplain; a vessel of like burthen with like armed force."

The agreement adds that all other vessels there shall be dismantled, etc.

More recently a joint high commission was created to which matters of Canadian and United States disputes are referred, but no change has been made in the 1917 joint armament agreement, although Canada has given the United States the courtesy of placing other vessels there for special purposes.

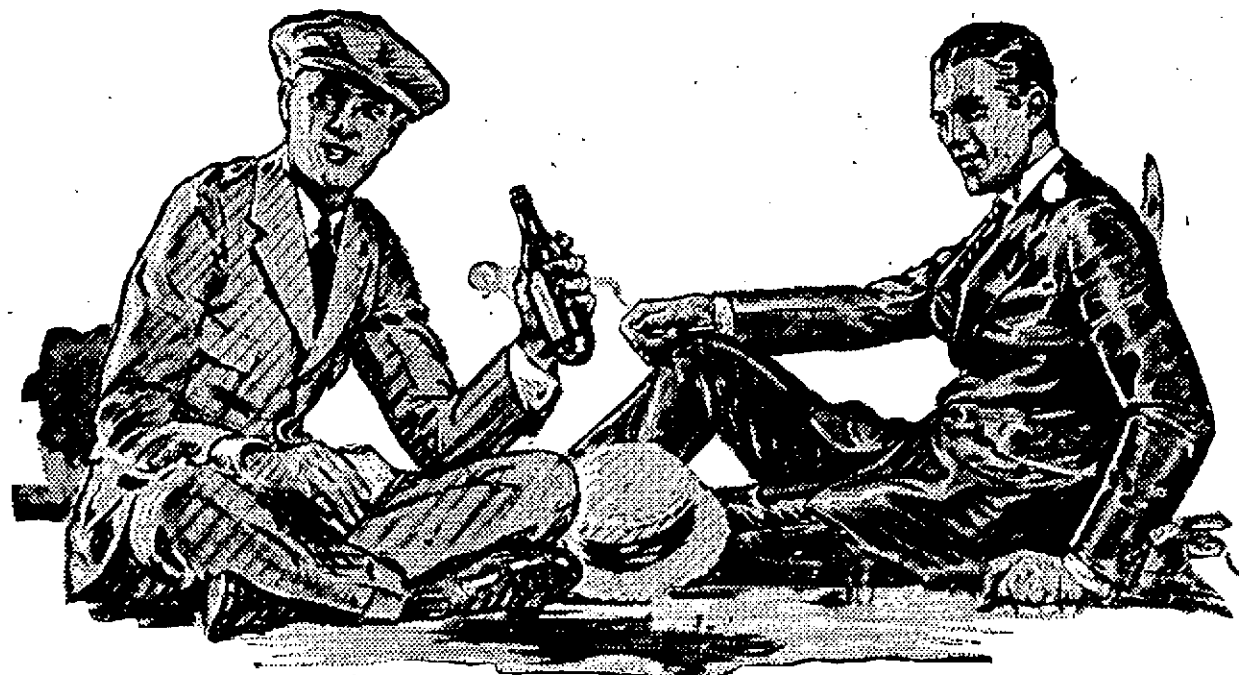

Mr. Rogers called the attention of the audience to the fact that Chile and Argentina even now have a five-years' limited armament agreement, and closed by saying he fully believed a conference of nations would result in steps towards international lessening of naval forces and toward future peace.

RICHARDS.

NEW ENGLAND WOMAN THREE TIMES ON VERGE OF COMPLETE NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Mrs. A. W. Etheridge, 649 Albany Avenue, Hartford, Conn., Describes in Letter How Wincarnis Helped Restore Her to Health

"I feel it my duty to tell you what your wonderful Wincarnis has done for me," writes Mrs. Etheridge. "Three different times in the last four years has it helped save me from a complete nervous breakdown. This time I was suffering severely from general debility and felt very nervous and run down, but, as usual, Wincarnis did the work. I am well on the road to recovery and have to thank Wincarnis for the great improvement in my health.

"If any one who doubts the value of Wincarnis will write me, I will gladly tell them all it has done for me."

How Wincarnis will help to restore your vital energy—enrich your blood—strengthen your nerves and promote vigor and vitality.

In almost every case of weakness, anemia, nervousness and run-down vitality, there is real shortage in the body of several mineral elements which are positively essential to the creation of vital power. These elements are, particularly, Iron, Calcium, Potassium, Sodium, Phosphorus. All these elements are contained in Wincarnis, because Wincarnis is prepared especially for weak, anemic, nervous and run-down people. So that by taking Wincarnis when you are weak, anemic, nervous or run-down, you supply to the body the very mineral elements it needs and, in this way, you pay the body, as it were, for the work it does by supplying the mineral elements necessary to enable the body to create vital energy—to make the blood rich and red—to strengthen the nerves—and to promote renewed vigor, vitality and endurance.

Choose the right way to health

Remember this important fact—if you are weak, anemic, nervous or run-down, because of a shortage in the body of Iron, Calcium, Potassium, Sodium and Phosphorus, it follows that no single one alone of these will do. The body must be supplied with all of them. And because Wincarnis contains all of them in most appropriate proportions and acceptable form, Wincarnis should be your choice if you desire new strength—new rich, red blood—new nerve force and new vitality. Over 10,000 physicians have recommended Wincarnis. Try just one bottle. Split in two sizes, $1.10 and $1.25 at Green's drug store, Northmarket square, and all first class druggists. Write today for free booklet, "Hundred percent Health, How to Obtain It." Edward Lawrence, Inc., 402 West 23d St., New York, U. S. Agents for Wincarnis.—Adv.

Campaign Was Big Success

Since of these indicates that there was fine work done by the various parish committees. The bulk of Lowell's contribution was made up of small donations. St. Patrick's parish has the honor of leading the city in the amount of money raised, although St. Peter's parish, which was in the lead during the greater part of the drive is a close second. The standing of the various parishes as announced by Dr. Michael A. Tighe, division chairman, is as follows:

St. Patrick's	$15,600.00
St. Peter's	10,425.00
St. Michael's	5,613.30
St. Margaret's	3,275.00
St. Jean Baptiste	2,154.00
Immaculate Conception	1,125.00
St. Mary's Collinsville	675.00
Sacred Heart	612.35
St. John's, No. Chelmsford	550.00
St. Andrew's, No. Billerica	105.00
St. Columba's	316.50
St. Louis	200.00
Notre Dame de Lourdes	50.00

Total $41,706.15
St. Patrick's parish had a hustling team in the field and its leadership of the city is due essentially to this fact. Credit must also be given to Mr. William O'Brien, pastor of the parish and dean of the clergy here, who assisted in every possible way to make the campaign a success and who contributed $5000 as his personal donation to the fund.

A feature of the final returns was the announcement that St. Jean Baptiste parish had raised $2154. It was not generally known that any organized campaign was in vogue there. Mayor Perry D. Thompson has contributed $25 to the fund.

The active campaign is now over, but voluntary contributions will be received for the next few days by Dr. Tighe at his office in Wyman's exchange. The state authorities are anxious to clean up the drive as soon as possible and for that reason Dr. Tighe asks that those who intend to make a donation do so as soon as possible.

The chairman of the various parishes during the drive were as follows: St. Patrick's, Rev. James A. Supple; St. Peter's, Rev. Peter T. Linahan; St. Michael's, Rev. Thomas J. LILAC CREAM for Windburn

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them. To do this get two ounces of calomine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin. Picking and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores and do not get the blackheads out after they become hard. The calomine powder and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the parts free and clean and in their natural state. Anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.—Adv.

THE STREET PAVING PROBLEM

It is to be regretted that the campaign of the chamber of commerce in favor of having street paving done by contractors solely on the ground of economy, has encountered so much bitterness. Now that the chamber is likely to be defeated, the question is likely to be forgotten so that many will lose sight of the main point, which is to get our street paving done at a reasonable cost.

It cannot be denied that there is much to be said in favor of continuing the system of street building that has been in vogue in Lowell from the beginning. The city is admitted by all parties, has built highways of the very best quality. It is not intimated that contractors could do more satisfactory work, but the claim is made and not successfully refuted that work recently done by the street department has been far too expensive. Since the street department has to care for all highways however built, it would seem wise that it should have a hand in their construction. When the work is done by contract, the only guarantee that it will be done according to specifications lies in the strictness of the supervision or inspection by the city engineers. It has not always been an easy task to obtain the services of inspectors who could be depended upon to look out carefully and faithfully for the city's interests in supervising contract work. In other cities where contractors have secured fat jobs, it has been found that some of them formed "alliances" with the inspectors so that the latter closed their eyes to operations by which the city was being robbed.

In the present case, it is probably a fact that no reliable data as to cost of paving by the city employees can be placed before the voters and consequently it will be difficult to show that any considerable saving would be saved by adopting the contract system. It is an open question as to whether any fair comparison can be made between what a contractor would lay block paving for at the present time and what such paving has cost the city in the past. The present is the time on which both should figure, and the street department should compute the cost per yard of block paving, omitting the so-called "regulation" extras, an unknown quantity not usually included in paving contracts.

Whatever may be the outcome of the present controversy, it would seem to be wise for the municipal council to take immediate steps to overhaul the street department system of administration, which has been permitted through a series of years to drift into a condition in which it cannot function with full efficiency, and among other things to install an up-to-date system of cost accounting that will make it possible to know with some degree of exactness how the taxpayers' money is being spent.

THE IRISH SITUATION

The increase in the violence in the streets upon British officials in Ireland, and the determination to injure the government with the assistance of the police of executing the republican soldiers arrested. The republican army in the streets of Dublin and other cities is a matter of fact. In the eyes of the British, these people have no business in Ireland and are there only because they are backed by a large army. Ireland cannot come out with an army in the open to meet the British forces but she is resisting British domination with all the power at her command. Evidently the republican army is determined to finish the Irish question before the present struggle terminates. It would be well if that object were accomplished in a manner that would give Ireland her freedom and in that way provide for future peace and harmony between that nation and England. It is very evident that the question never can be permanently settled in any other way. President de Valera has repeatedly stated that Ireland free would be willing to enter into a treaty arrangement guaranteeing peace and amity between the two nations.

It is very evident that it would be much better for England to have a friendly Ireland at her door than to have a nation ever watching for an opportunity to strike for independence. The raids carried into England are directed against the families of the Black and Tans who showed such heartless brutality in their nightly raids on the Irish people. The whole business is deplorable and should be settled right so that it will not come up from year to year, renewing the old spirit of hate, the attacks and reprisals that have caused such havoc all over the country.

It is to be hoped that Lloyd George is beginning to see the light and that there is some foundation in fact for the report that he is willing to meet President de Valera without condition in order to see if it is possible to reach a settlement mutually satisfactory.

STREET RAILWAY FARES

Now that the wage question and working conditions on the Eastern Massachusetts street railway have been settled by arbitration, the trustees are expected to proceed with their program of reducing fares.

The employees did not get as much as they expected from the arbitration of the differences between them and the trustees.

True, the company did not get authority to enforce a cut-down of 20 per cent, but if the decision on the twelve issues submitted be considered, it must be admitted that the cut means more than 12½ per cent. It is plain also that the differential of five cents per hour more than the other men for one-man car operators, does not indicate a fair appreciation of the nature of the nervous work these men have to perform.

The people of Lowell who pass through Merrimack square would like some guarantee of a ride of reasonable length without having to pay two fares. At present, regulated, the transfer system is so restricted that a passenger has to pay twenty cents or two fares to cross the city. It seems that there might be an extension of the transfer system in justice to all concerned. In Boston the fare is ten cents; but that usually insures a long ride as every subway station is a transfer point at which the passengers go their devious ways without further charge and without being asked any further questions.

ENFORCE THE SPEED LAW

On Sunday, the police of Stoneham held up no fewer than sixty automobiles who violated the speed laws on the highways.

Unless the police of cities and towns throughout the state adopt some method of enforcing the law, the speed mania will continue to use the highways as race tracks and thus to imperil the lives of the people who are out for pleasure and who are careful not to violate the laws regulating the use of the highways. It is well now, at the opening of the season, to impress the motorists with the fact that the laws are to be enforced; and it is very remarkable how openly the laws are violated here and elsewhere without risk of arrest or prosecution.

It is a remarkable fact that although the law says that the speed of automobiles passing the intersection of streets in thickly settled districts, should not exceed eight miles an hour, very few motorists seem to know that any such law exists. There is not a day in the week that this law is not violated hundreds of times in this and nearly every other city in the state.

The local police department conducted a law enforcement crusade some time ago with good results; but the Safety First campaign followed, winding up with several fatalities. Nothing will stop reckless driving so promptly as to set a stop watch on the speedsters and pull them in for violation of the law. Stoneham is on the right track. Lowell should follow.

RADICALS IN MEXICO

Radicals are evidently becoming aggressive in Mexico and, as usual, they set out to banish religion as one of their chief obstacles. The destruction of churches followed by the killing of over 50 of those who protested against the outrage shows a dangerous spirit of lawlessness. Now that Villa has subdued, Mexico must have some other form of turbulence and anarchy. If President Obregon tolerates radical outrages, he will eventually be caught in their intrigues and overwhelmed.

The Coal Journal says that less than 50 per cent of the industrial concerns of the country are covered by contracts for coal. This is truly an element of danger. It explains why the mines and the freight cars are idle and it will explain why a great many consumers will be disappointed when they find that all the middle of the end of the summer before putting in their orders.

The London Daily Telegraph says that "the foundations of European peace are gravely imperilled as a result of disagreements over Poland." Thus we are reminded that not even a League of Nations can for long keep all of the implements of warfare beaten into plowshares and pruning hooks.

Our esteemed evening contemporary across the way is certainly leading into pathways that are new and strange when it speaks of "attempting to remedy" the evil of non-voting "by municipal ordinance." Bye and bye we may hear that the municipal council has undertaken to tell the legislature what bills it shall pass.

It would be interesting to know where people who say they never read "horrible" murder stories printed in the newspapers, get their information that they are "horrible."

Monroe L. Thomasson, 75, Confederate veteran and farmer living in South Carolina, has his own notions about the kind of household furnishings he wants in his home. Thomasson keeps local hardware merchants from having to worry about getting rid of empty and kegs. He uses the kegs in place of chairs in his house. A guest invited to his home for a meal sits on a nicely painted and varnished nail keg. It's just a hobby, says Thomasson.

By Frances Boardman

A trained observer of the stage can tell, without the program's page, just what the nationality before him is supposed to be. When he beholds a human eld engaged in demonstrating that her elbows, ankles, wrists and knees are dislocatable with ease; and that she doesn't mind the gaps between her far-flung shoulder straps—well, then she's accurately classed as something out of Egypt's past. Though Scotland's very far away, the Highland dancer, one might say, is just as anxious that the breeze shall have full access to her knees. As Kipling's famous verse begins: "They're sisters underneath their shins." (Or else, perhaps, it ends that way.—It's sometimes difficult to say.) The Russian dancer's special gift is his ability to lift his person with a single bound, from squatting postures on the ground to wild excursions in the air. Gosh, yes—these Russian birds are there with piston-drivers inside the legs. It must be healthy for the legs to live on caviare and tea—one might experiment, and see.

Life

Life is a bearing of burdens.
Life is a pleasure each day;
Life is a stress and a struggle
With pauses for thought and for
Then, be you kind while you may.

Life is a pledge, a devotion,
With pleading and memories to pray;
Life is a faith and a reaching
For something far-off and away;
Then, be you kind while you may.

Life is a song and a sorrow;
A joy, and a pang in the fray;
Life is a need and a trusting
From the dawn till the twilight is gray;
Then, be you kind while you may.

Life is a journey with comrades
Needing to smile and be gay;
Life is a chance to be helpful
Before life is taken away;
Then, be you kind while you may.

BY ALFRED ARNOLD.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Shakespeare wrote a song one time in which the following line occurred: "It rained, it rained every day." About time for Shakespeare's revival, eh? That song might live on us as we paddle through puddles, shudder through storms, and run from raindrops. If my recollection serves, old rainy Jupiter has made a specialty of turning on the water on Saturdays this spring, although this week he held off until Monday morning. But there was probably a method in his madness, as Sunday was straw hat day, and he figured that by passing out a clear Saturday, he could kid us into buying our new lids, and then soak us when we started out Monday morning. I, for one, fooled him, although I may have been near to going to the hospital in the rain.

Leaving my winter headpiece at the office Saturday, I breezed home in my nifty new covering. I had it all doped out that the heavenly weeping was certainly through for a bit. But when I woke up Monday morn, the little threads of rain were pouring perpendicularly from the sky. First I said, "Farwell, straw hat!" Then a bright and daring idea hit me a wallop. Result: I walked downtown to work arrayed neatly in a raincoat, but utterly minus a lid. Bareheaded, I strode through the pelting rain. And he it said to the everlasting honor of Lowell's citizenry, no one gave me more than a passing glance, not a word, not a nod, not a hint, not a guard against the squirrels, not a cop (and I passed several) laid upon me the suspicious eye. Well, why should anyone wear a hat if they don't want to, anyhow? The Greeks and Romans weren't much on wearing them. If we are to judge by their statuary, and other sources of information, and less it be said, that the climate of balmy Italy and Greece had to do with this, I may add that the tribes of the north who swooped down upon the Mediterranean lands weren't much on wearing ties, either.

The closing of the season's work of the League of Catholic Women brings to mind the excellent program which was given by the organization at the various monthly meetings during the 1920-1921 season. Few organizations have brought to their membership as varied a program of interest and pleasure. Such speakers as Mrs. Frank Scammon, Mrs. Martha Moore Avery, Hon. James M. Curley, Peter W. Collins, Rev. Francis P. Donnelly, S. J., Mary Bogie O'Reilly and Mrs. Francis Stacey addressed the members during the season which has just come to a close.

And Mrs. Bennett Fitzgerald, who appeared at the October meeting, will long be remembered for her instructive and absorbing address on "Celtic Folk Songs," with illustrations from her own poems. The musical program of the league has been more than ordinarily commendable of late.

Fitzgerald was assisted by Mrs. Morris Berenson, a Boston vocalist, and Mrs. Avery in her discourse on "Katherine of Aragon," was assisted by Mrs. William Illsley. Toward the close of the season the league choral club began presenting the oratorio, "The Last Days of Pompeii." The "City of the Dead" and "The City of the Living" have both been given most effectively. The year's program was a truly noteworthy one and reflects much credit on the committee which prepared it.

Lowell Woman Tells Wonderful Experience of Herself and Husband With Tanlac

Here is another instance of the remarkable powers of Tanlac in building up the system following an operation. Mrs. Toles Landry, 26 Main st., Lowell, says:

"For ten years I was in a weak, nervous condition and bothered constantly with stomach trouble. After everything that could be thought of had been done for my relief, I was advised to submit to an operation, which I did. When I came out of the hospital, after some weeks, I continued in such a run-down condition that it was absolutely necessary to have something to build me up.

"I got Tanlac and the results have been simply wonderful. I now eat and sleep better than for years and never feel a touch of indigestion. I have gained considerably in weight and feel like a different person altogether. When my husband saw how much good Tanlac had done me, he took some himself, for he was not at all well, and it has done him a world of good. Tanlac is certainly a household treasure with us. We tell our friends about it every day and I am glad to make this statement and give the public the benefit of my experience."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store, under the personal direction of Dr. Charles A. Green, and by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.

GOOD OF THE SERVICE

Will Be Considered in Selecting One of Three Highest for Postmaster

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Only the "good of the service" will be considered in selecting the man from among the three highest for certification to the president for appointment as postmaster. Postmaster-General Hays declared today in discussing the recent executive order of President Harding on the matter. Congressmen and senators will naturally be heard by the department as to the qualifications of applicants. Mr. Hays said, adding that this meant democrats as well as republicans.

Selections made by the civil service commission under the orders of former President Wilson but not confirmed by the senate, will be ignored and new examinations held for such vacancies. The postmaster-general asserted. There are about 500 such vacancies. It was said, and the postoffice department is now making up the list by states to certify to the civil service commission. This body, it was declared, is expected to make arrangements for the examination as soon as possible.

they may utilize the property and Uncle Sam pay the upkeep that it is a very satisfactory arrangement."

Miss Robertson asked the name of the tract, and when told it was Platt National park, inquired of Mr. Monell if he knew how it had been named. He admitted he did not, so she told him that it was named for the late Senator Platt of Connecticut. "One of the best of friends, if not the very best of the Indians of Oklahoma ever had."

The white-haired woman representative delivered a brief speech in praise of Senator Platt and when she walked back to her seat, was applauded by members of the house.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The house is expected to begin consideration within a few days of the Sweet bill to consolidate various government agencies dealing with relief for war veterans. The measure was taken up today by the commerce committee. A sub-committee, headed by Representative Sweet, republican, Iowa, author of the bill, has already heard the views of representatives of bureaus that would be affected, and of veterans' organizations. The measure provides for consolidation in one bureau under the treasury department of the war risk insurance bureau, the rehabilitation division of the board for vocational education, and sections of the public health service that deal with sick and disabled ex-service men.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Sun spots do not control terrestrial weather, but are more or less related to auroras, earth currents and terrestrial magnetism, according to the United States weather bureau. If there is any relation between terrestrial magnetism and auroras, on the one hand, and the weather on the other, a statement issued today said, it was quite obscure. The statement said a time of minimum sun-spottedness is just beginning and will continue from one to three years and the present spot is only one of a number of outbursts which may be expected during that period. The public need feel no concern regarding their effect on the earth's weather, it was added.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Thomas Meighan scored decisively in his latest photoplay, "The City of Silent Men," at the Merrimack Square theatre yesterday afternoon and evening. Barely has the "good luck star" been cast in so strong and dramatic a role as that of "Jim Montgomery," a country boy who goes to the city and, falling into the hands of crooks, unconsciously aids in the commission of a crime. Although innocent, he is sent to prison, but makes his escape and goes to California. Here he assumes another name and becomes superintendent of a factory. Gradually love enters his life and on his wedding day the shadow of his past rises before him. How he regains his happiness makes a thrilling and delightful story. Lois Wilson is his leading woman and she heads a strong supporting cast. The production is well worth seeing, because from every angle it is one of the best of the Meighan repertoire. The famous bridge of sighs in the Tombs of New York, the interior of

Father's Love for Child Saves Its Life—Wheels Babe 1,000 Miles

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—Mother love and sacrifice is common, but this is a story of father devotion, of a father's love for his child, and of a journey of more than 1,000 miles in a successful effort to save the baby's life.

Early in March, this year, Marie Jeanne Watkins, mother of little Franklin Watkins, died at Vallejo, Cal., from a bronchial pneumonia. Upon her death it was discovered that the infant had contracted pneumonia from its mother and that his only salvation would be the open air.

L. P. Watkins, the father, with three children on three beds set out to save his baby. With his last money he sent the other two children to relatives with the baby in a neapoleonic stroller on the long journey to health.

For weeks the father sat up at night by the roadside holding the babe close to his chest to relieve the pneumonia.

Sing Sing, world famous prison, and other noted places are shown in "The City of Silent Men." The photoplay delivers a hammer blow against the conviction of men on circumstantial evidence.

The other feature for the first half of the week at the Merrimack Square theatre is "Prokles," a Cosmopolitan production with an exceptionally capable cast. The hero is a reformed convict who obtains a position as butler in a fashionable home and who is not only determined to live straight, but who succeeds in making good despite the odds against him.

Norman Kerry plays the part of the hero while the leading woman, also a reformed crook, is Zena V. Keefe, a highly capable screen player.

The story is dramatic and the interest is well sustained throughout. There are thrills aplenty and, all in all, it is one of the best plays seen in this city for many months.

A comedy and the latest edition of the International News round out a very entertaining program.

THE STRAND THEATRE

Because of the great demand for a return engagement, "Madame X," the famous drama from the pen of Alexandre Bisson is again being shown on the screen at the Strand theatre. This play was shown here some time ago and was given a great reception by the thousands who saw it, but there were many who were unable to see it and judging by the large audiences at yesterday's performances the second run of "Madame X" bids fair to outdo its first appearance here.

"Madame X" is a stage play, and one that always proved a big drawing card. Its screen version, however, has improved it to such an extent that many fault the original. It has but words of praise for the new "Madame X" as they refer to it. The play deals with the wife of a noted Parisian lawyer, who is driven from her home by a suspicious husband regarding her character. It unfolds the hardships borne by the ill-treated woman, all the while depicting her love for her only child. The woman's career ends in the court of justice, where she is charged with murder and is defended by her own son. The climax is reached when the son recognizes each other. If you have not seen the screen production of "Madame X" see it for you will enjoy it.

Another pleasing play shown during the first few days of the week is "The Iron Rider," a picture bristling with dramatic scenes. It unfolds a thrilling tale of relentless justice in a lawless town. A less than a clan founded to subdue lawlessness. An apparent violation of the oath of the chief of the clan and the almost tragic consequences form the basis of the story, with a little love thrown in.

There is a good comedy and current events that are both interesting and instructive. The musical numbers by the theatre orchestra are most enjoyable and add materially to the merits of the program.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

When a vaudeville program heralds the fact that a certain performer is a "prima donna," one usually looks forward to a series of songs more or less operatic in nature and unmixled with the hit of popular song. But once in a while one gets a surprise—or disappointment as the case may be—and as well known as your own name, you are disappointed.

So it is with Yvette Rugel, the miniature prima donna who headlines this week's bill at Keith's theatre. She shows the operatic not because of difficulty, because she seems fully able to essay most operatic roles but rather because she evidently finds the simple, everyday song that everyone knows and likes to have sung, more appealing to her audience.

But there is a difference between the ordinary singing of a well known number and the manner in which Miss Rugel sings it—all the difference in the world. She has a voice that is full, seemingly never strained and sweet notes seem to pour from it like a cataract from a cornucopia. She is essentially a singer and all other arts and theatrical accomplishments are not dragged into her performance. It is not an act, waiting up and down the stage and other petty mannerisms which many singers bring into their work. Miss Rugel simply sings to her accompanist and then sings. She more than pleased last evening's audience and her finale, "The Swanee River," sung in a minor key, had the appeal of novelty and perfect execution. Leo Feiner is a capable accompanist.

Harry and Emma Sharrack have been here before but like wine and other good things, they improve with age. They call their offering "Behind the Grand Stand" and they give a first class imitation of the showbusiness artists who follow the big circuits. They have all the "tingo" of the traveling show people down pat and know how to twist it. About in most amusing fashion, they show the act, for the first time, while Harry walks up and down the aisles picking out various articles of jewelry, attire, etc., and his partner on the stage rattles them off unhesitatingly.

The stage tradition of the Englishman is usually good for a lot of laughs and Miss Lynn and William Howard make the most of it. Harry is a talking and singing sketch, "A Racey Conversation." Lynn plays the part of the Englishman to perfection. Every time he utters a phrase for a laugh and his efforts to tell funny stories are most amusing. His partner is blessed with a voice that is rare, merril and his singing of "This Old Irish Mother of Mine" won him a big hand at yesterday's performances. The work of both men in "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows," their final number, is exceptionally effective.

Ernest Anderson and Marjorie Burl and another to the series of "domestic" sketches. They have been shown at Keith's during the last few weeks and they draw down many laughs by their rough-hewn humor. The fault with everything and everybody, particularly his wife, Miss Burl is the loving, subservient wife, who really wakes up to the fact that her husband is a scoundrel and needs some of his own treatment. The sketch is built for laugh making primarily but there is a bit of moral interest. The story is well sustained throughout. There are thrills aplenty and, all in all, it is one of the best plays seen in this city for many months.

A comedy and the latest edition of the International News round out a very entertaining program.

RIATTO THEATRE

There came to the screen at the Riatio theatre yesterday afternoon an altogether delightful feature. It is a first National attraction presented by Joseph M. Schenk in which the always refreshing Constance Talmadge carries off the stellar honors. It is the screen version of Rachel Barton Butler's Harvard University play, "Mamma's Affair," which enjoyed a successful stay in New York and a long road run last season.

The director, Victor Fleming, has succeeded in making the screen production even more delectable than the play, and as the stage presentation was chosen by the critics to be one of the brightest comedies of the season it is paying the screen version a high compliment to say that it exceeds the spoken lines. The sparkling lines which gave the play such vogue, are preserved in the laughable titles, while the screen version, perhaps because the camera has the entire world as its studio, gives wider scope to the scenes of merriment. It would be difficult to imagine a more fittingly chosen vehicle for the dainty comedienne. Miss Talmadge not only repeats her former triumphs, but ascends to new heights in her interpretation of the role of Eve. The cast is carefully chosen and includes Kenneth Harlan, who is Miss Talmadge's leading man, and plays the part of Doctor Harmon. Eric Shannon essays the role of Mrs. Orlin, Eve's mother, and Katherine Russell interprets the character of Mrs. Marchant, the hypocritical friend of "Mrs. Orlin."

George LeGuern appears as "Buddy," Mrs. Orlin's confidential man. In the prolog of the picture is shown the garden of Eve, with the faded apple tree. Eve is wearing a darling evening gown and Adam is dressed in furs. Eve gets Adam to hand her the golden apple by simulating hysterics and this is a role that Miss Talmadge handles to perfection. The clever plots introduced in Mr. Butler's play are delicately preserved in the screen form and are worked into a clever climax which cover Miss Talmadge's screen reputation with new laurels. The other members of the cast also live up to their parts with characteristic ease.

Supporting the Talmadge feature for the three first days of the week is a gripping western picture, "A Man's Creed," introducing Nell Hart in the leading role. There is also a continuation of "The Son of Tarzan," and a handful of the latest Fox News. These attractions are well up to the usual standard of the Riatio program and all go to make up a well balanced and varied screen program.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"And Lang Syne" was sung by players and audiences as the curtain descended at the two performances in the Opera house yesterday of Sydney Grandy's three-act comedy, "The Circus Girl." It was the way that was taken for exchanging "good-byes" between the members of the company and those who through the season have come to feel friendship for them as individuals and appreciation for their efforts to entertain. With the closing of this week the 1920 Lowell Players' organization is to disband. Whether any of the members will return to this city in the fall is understood to be uncertain.

To give a full measure of entertainment several specialties were introduced by members of the cast during the progress of the play. Miss Florance Hill and Charles L. Barton gave a lively song and dance act that won accolades until the performers were near the point of exhaustion. Mr. Barton also gave a musical specialty by himself. Miss Marguerite Fields also won an encore for her singing.

A brief speech of gratitude for the kindly appreciation shown her during her stay in this city was made by Miss Fields. She spoke of the loyalty of her Lowell friends and of the hope that she might meet them again when coming to or passing through Lowell. Charles L. Barton, wearied with responding to encores, also thanked his friends in Lowell for their kindly interest in his work, and spoke of the pleasure that he had felt in returning to this city, where he had spent his boyhood after six years of absence.

Although the play, "The Circus Girl," chosen for the final performances of the season, was well received, it was

A tiny part in a fine clock may become loose and cause the clock to gain or lose. If not attended to in time, the part may fall from its place and cause serious trouble. So it is with women's ailments, they start from simple causes; but if allowed to continue, produce serious conditions.

When the warning symptoms are first noted, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present troublesome ailment, and to prevent the development of serious trouble.

WAR ON LABOR LEADERS

Manufacturers Urged to Resist Alleged Attempt to Dominate U. S. Industries

NEW YORK, May 17.—Manufacturers and business interests of the country are urged to take the offensive and resist the alleged attempt of labor leaders to dominate the industry, in the report of the committee on industrial betterment, health and safety, presented here yesterday at the annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers.

"The leaders of labor cannot, and apparently do not care to hide their determination to rule the industry of this country," said the report, "and aspire to govern it politically as well. The business existence of the members of this association is involved in defeating their aspirations, which are against the public interest, and it must therefore of necessity oppose them. A defensive battle is a losing battle. Therefore the association should boldly expose to the public the attempts of a minority to dominate business and govern the state in its own selfish interest."

"The policies of the leaders to which they have endeavored to commit the members of their organization, are policies of coercion and intimidation, and therefore notoriously in disregard of law except when in their own favor."

The report charges that union labor spent $1,377,204 during the year ending April 30, 1920, for administration, politics and strikes.

The committee urged the "open shop" movement be stimulated by the extension of plans for industrial representation, explaining:

"If plans for industrial representation should become the most approved method of dealing with labor. Such plans can be inaugurated where members of labor organizations, as well as independent workers, are employed."

Two Americans Ordered Out of Mexico

MEXICO CITY, May 17.—Frank Seaman, alleged to be an American agitator, another American whose name was not announced, and two Spaniards have been ordered expelled from Mexico on the ground that they are "pernicious foreigners." This charge was preferred under article 33 of the constitution and was a result of their participation in the radical invasion of the chamber of deputies last week. Demonstrations in government buildings and in churches have been forbidden by President Obregon. Gendarmes guarded every entrance to the chamber yesterday and persons entering the building were searched for arms. President Obregon has ordered federal officers to use every means at their command to ascertain the cause of the Catholic-socialist clash at Morelia, which was described in the president's order as "an act of intemperance and intolerance."

Detroit Woman Held for Murder of Boy

DETROIT, May 17.—Mrs. Elizabeth Lewen, 52 years old, is now charged with the murder of Max Ernest, a six-year-old boy, who disappeared from his home last Wednesday, and whose body was found in a marsh yesterday. She had been in custody on a charge of kidnapping the child. The boy had been strangled and there were marks of violence on the head. No fingerprints were found on the body, but a gray strand of hair, about four or five inches long, was entangled in the boy's clothing. Mrs. Lewen was arrested Saturday. Frank E. Ernest, the boy's father, charged that the woman kidnapped Max to avenge a fancied wrong in a recent business deal and neighbors identified her as the woman who drove the boy away in an automobile. She had denied any knowledge of the lad's disappearance.

Annual Festival

ter Soule, Mrs. Gallatin Soule, Mrs. Florence Shamahan, Miss Mildred Colby and Roussou Pallatianos.

Just before 2 o'clock the youngsters were banded into automobiles, and the procession started for the picnic grounds in Pawtucketville. There was no ban on noise, and people in the streets were made aware by the shouting and cheering that something was doing for the youngsters.

Ball Games Started At the picnic grounds the children quickly dispersed themselves over the grassy field. Young girls romped and played to their hearts' content. Some set up miniature housekeeping establishments, with improvised dolls for the younger members of the families. In the shade of trees, for the boys there were baseball bats, gloves and masks, and half a dozen games had been started before the picnic was ten minutes old.

At noon came the lunch, eaten in picnic fashion, beneath the trees. Such a lunch it was, too, with many dainties dear to children's palates. Ice cream and ginger pop there was, of course, in plenty.

After lunch there was a brief rest. Then came singing in Greek and English. The Greek singing was led by Mr. Pallatianos; that in English by Miss Shannahan.

Songs of Fatherland Many of the songs of the Greek fatherland were given with spirit and enthusiasm. The Greek national anthem was sung, and the notes of "The Star Spangled Banner" sung by the youngsters, excited passing motorists to draw up their machines and listen.

In the afternoon the children received a visit from the members of the Greek Community school committee, headed by Harry Houpis, president.

About 4 o'clock this afternoon, the last sandcastle had disappeared, the last ice cream cone had been eaten, the last ball game won, the last doll put to bed for its night's slumber, and the youngsters started on their return journey to their homes.

The May picnic goes down in the history of the children of the Greek school as a red letter festival.

GIRL RESERVES' WORK

Demonstration of Work Done By Girl Reserves of the Y. W. C. A.

A demonstration of the work done by the girl reserves of the Lowell Young Women's Christian association was held in Kilton hall last evening. There were 250 girls present and the demonstration, which was in charge of Mrs. Cumner H. Talbot, was both interesting and instructive. The girl reserve movement works through self-correcting clubs called corps. The Lowell Girl Reserves now have six girl reserve corps. The leaders are Mrs. G. Darling, Mrs. Cumner Talbot, and Misses Violet Slack, Gladys Pendexter, Janet MacDougall Edith Gaddes, Evelyn Hersey and Lillian Smith. The clubs have been assisted in their work by Miss Hazel Tutbill, Mrs. George Upton, Miss Maybelle Fish, Miss Lucien Washburn and Mrs. Fred Cameron. The secretaries are Miss Evelyn W. Hersey and Miss Lillian M. Smith.

The program at last night's demonstration was as follows: Initiation Service Awarding of Honors (1) Girl Reserves (2) Girl Reserves Flare Drill Salute to Flag Greek Song and Dance Greek Dances Children's polka Swedish Clap Dance Demonstration of Knowledge and Service Games—Juniors May Pole Dance Greetings from Miss Kidder, Girl Work Secretary for the Northeastern Field

"The Girlhood of Our Country Serves the Girlhood of the World" It is explained by the leaders that the Girl Reserve program is four-sided, including health, knowledge, spirit and service. The slogan is "To face life squarely" the purpose is "To find and give the best." The code is as follows:

"As a Girl Reserve I will be—Gracious in manner. Impartial in judgment. Ready for service. Loyal to friends. Looking toward the best. Earnest in purpose. Seeing the beautiful. Eager for knowledge. Reverent to God. Victorious over self. Ever dependable. Sincere at all times."

ON DANGER LIST Very little hope is being entertained for the recovery of Joseph Bizard at the Lowell General hospital. The patient is a younger resident of Nashua, who was injured in a collision between his motorcycle and an automobile operated by Frank Centre of Lawrence at the Junction of Denbar Avenue and the Pawtucket highway Saturday night. It was stated at the hospital this noon that Bizard's condition is growing worse.

REQUIEM MASSES HARRINGTON—There will be an anniversary mass Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock at St. Patrick's church for the repose of the soul of Mrs. Mary O'Neil Harrington. Friends invited.

Tennessee Out for Additional Tests

ROCKLAND, Me., May 17.—The superdreadnaught Tennessee, which was pushed by her electric drive at a top speed of 21.378 knots an hour in her first tests yesterday went back to the measured mile course off Owl's Head today for additional trial spins today. Her performances in the primary runs were said to have exceeded contract requirements in the important details of maximum speed and maximum horse power. Her runs today were to test separately the inboard and outboard screws and reversal of the screws at full speed. It was expected she would leave for Boston tonight or tomorrow, making a test run on the way.

Tension Over Polish Revolt Passes

LONDON, May 17.—Tension over the Polish revolt in Silesia, which over the week-end threatened a crisis in the ranks of the entente, seemed here today to have passed, for the moment at least. Exchange of views on the subject has been proceeding between London and Paris, and there seemed to be confidence that Prime Minister Lloyd George and Premier Briand would reach an understanding when they meet. It appeared probable that the two premiers would hold a conference early next week.
